Sen. McClellan
Declares Row
Is GOP "Mess"Democrats Indicate
They Hope To Benefit
From Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Democrats indicated today they expect to benefit politically from a Senate probe of the McCarthy-Stevens row.

"This is wholly a Republican mess," Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), who will have a major role in the inquiry, said. He added that "all the principals in the hearings are Republicans or under Republican control."

He said he referred to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Secretary of the Army, Roy Cohn, chief counsel for McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee, and John G. Adams, Army attorney aiding Stevens.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who will direct the Senate inquiry, disputed McClellan's contention it was a "Republican mess." He said Cohn, the subcommittee counsel, "is a Democrat."

Cohn due to be replaced
Cohn, who has figured directly in the exchange of charges and countercharges between McCarthy and Stevens camps, is expected to be replaced by an outside lawyer for the inquiry.

Asked if Republicans might be damaged politically by the forthcoming investigation, Mundt said: "I would not know until we find out what happens. Up to now it has not helped either side."

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall commented that "any dissension will hurt any party," but he added quickly: "There is no real division in the Republican party because of McCarthy."

Hall was interviewed during a visit to Ripon, Wis., where he spoke at ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Republican party.

McCarthy Winds Up Tour
McCarthy returned today to Washington from Oklahoma City, where he wound up a four-day speaking tour last night by saying he would feel "compelled" to campaign for President Eisenhower if the President were running for office today, even though he does not think Eisenhower is "a superman."

Renewing his appeal to cut off aid to nations trading with Red China, McCarthy said some people would say, "Oh, McCarthy is fighting Ike."

He said he thinks Eisenhower "is doing the best job he can," but added, "I don't think he is a superman." He said Eisenhower's batting average in office is so much higher than that of any President in recent years, however, that "there is no comparison."

Episcopal Deans Blast McCarthy

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Episcopal deans of New York and Washington exchanged pulpits and attacked "McCarthyism." One also sharply criticized what he called the silence of the Roman Catholic hierarchy on the subject.

The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Episcopal Cathedral, delivered his sermon at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here.

The Very Rev. Dr. James A. Pike, dean of St. John the Divine, preached at the Washington Cathedral.

Both said the American people were to blame for the present power of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), whose methods they described as "evil" and "another of the devil's disguises."

Dean Pike called on the Senate to "show clearly where it stands on the American way by changing the leadership of the subcommittee" now headed by McCarthy.

Dean Pike also told his Washington listeners that "the non-Roman churches will have to bear the heat of the day in making the Christian witness against this new tyranny."

"It is not surprising," the New York dean said, "that the Roman Catholic hierarchy, not averse to taking positions on other moral issues (for example, for their particular view on birth control), has been silent on McCarthyism, and that Roman Catholic papers with huge circulations have been pro-McCarthy in influence."

LUBECK, Germany, March 21 (AP)—More than 1,000 dogs, wearing black mourning ribbons, were led through the streets of Lubeck today in a barking protest parade against the recent killing near here of 13 pets because of suspected rabies.

Traffic was hampered more than one hour by the two-mile long procession. Owners claim the pets, among them several valuable species, were not affected by the disease and were killed without a veterinary examination after cases of acute rabies had been discovered in the vicinity.

Dien Bien Phu
Struggle Seen
'Geneva Battle'

HANOI, Indochina, March 21 (AP)—The stubborn struggle of French Union forces to hold the fortress of Dien Bien Phu and cut down Communist-led Vietminh besiegers looked more and more today like the "Battle for Geneva."

The battle, now in its ninth day, may end quickly or it may drag on for weeks. Rain slowed the fighting today.

But it has become obvious the Vietminh rebels of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh want a victory to strengthen their hand in talks at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Korean and Indochina problems.

Talks May End War
Big-power talks at Geneva beginning April 26 may lead to the end of the eight-year-long war by negotiation. The Vietminh know that if they can crush the fortress on the plain 175 miles west of Hanoi they can boast about a major defeat for the French.

The French know that if they can knock out the estimated 36,000 elite troops the Vietminh still have in the surrounding hills and in the trenches near the heart of the fortress, Ho Chi Minh's striking power will be smashed. The massive struggle for the fortress can thus be regarded as decisive.

Rain Turns Dustbowl To Mud
The rebel troops now threatening a new assault on the fortress represent half of the top fighting strength Ho Chi Minh has, including an "iron division" of 12,000 shock troops.

Rain hit the region today, turning the dustbowl into an oval lake of reddish mud. It forced the French to taper off their biggest air attacks of the war after five days and nights of hitting rebel targets.

Marines Hit Iwo's Beaches
In 'Operation Flag Hoists'

IWO JIMA, Monday, March 22 (AP)—The Navy and Marine Corps Sunday put some 35,000 battle-ready Marines and sailors through the largest amphibious landing exercise in the Western Pacific since World War II.

The amphibious punch using conventional methods and helicopters was a graphic display of U. S. striking power.

It also underlined that even with the U. S. 1st Marine Division tied down in Korea the Marines in the Far East still pack a division-sized wallop ready for uncoiling.

"Operation Flag Hoists" involved the full strength of the 3rd Marines—some 20,000 men—plus 98 warships, 200 warplanes and some 12,000 sailors, fliers, and soldiers.

The Marines hit the western beaches of famed Iwo Jima at 1 p.m. (11 p.m. Saturday, EST) in a precision attack under waves of warplanes. It was spectacular.

Demo Senators
Urge Action Now
To Halt "Slump"

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Senators Hill (D-Ala.) and Douglas (D-Ill.) said today the time has come for the Eisenhower administration to act swiftly against what they view as a mounting business recession.

Hill said that as he reads the economic indices "the situation is definitely getting worse and the administration ought to move with a program of public works in which the states and local communities could participate."

Douglas said in a separate interview that "I certainly hope the administration does not wait too long to act."

Ike Watches March Trend
President Eisenhower has said that March would indicate whether any federal action is needed to stem unemployment, but Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey indicated a belief that the administration should wait until April or May for more definitive data.

Sharing this view generally, Sen. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the conference of all Republican senators, said the administration already is moving to give tax relief in pending excise and general revision bills.

"I am proud that the administration is taking the initiative in this," Millikin said.

Hill said that as badly needed as tax relief is, something even more concrete ought to be undertaken immediately.

Public Works Urged
Specifically, he suggested that construction programs be launched for new schools, hospitals, housing, roads, rivers, airports, rural electrification and rural telephones.

"The cost of such a construction program would be small in comparison with what we are being asked to vote for foreign aid and for the military program," he said. "In addition, cities and states would be participating, so that the federal government would not bear all of the expense."

Hill said the program would have the advantage of being widespread and could be geared to specific unemployment areas, both rural and urban.

"If we undertook such a large-scale program, we would be getting solid results for our money and at the same time we would be avoiding anything in the nature of a boondoggle," he said.

Veteran Hearst
Executive Dies

BOSTON, March 21 (AP)—Walter Crawford Howey, long-time Hearst newspaper executive and the real life prototype of colorful editor Walter Burns in the play "Front Page," died today in his sleep at his Back Bay apartment. He was 72.

Death came to the veteran and almost legendary newsman only two months after that of his wife, Gloria, who died Jan. 24 of pneumonia while Howey lay in critical condition at a hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Howey's long newspaper career began as a reporter on the Ft. Dodge (Iowa) Messenger in 1902. He was editor-in-chief of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, the Hearst newspapers in Boston, at the time of his death.

Between those times, he became a living legend as reporter, city editor and managing editor of four Chicago newspapers during a period when Windy City journalism was marked by hectic newspaper competition.

Three Crewmen Die
In Danish Ship Fire

PHILADELPHIA, March 21 (AP)—Three crewmen of a Danish freighter were killed early today and two others injured in a flash fire that wrecked their below deck sleeping quarters.

The 5,000-ton freighter, Gudrun Maersk, was anchored at Pier 98 South in the Delaware River when the blaze was discovered.

Eleven crewmen were asleep when the alarm was sounded. Nine others were not in their bunks. Eight officers had other quarters.

Committee Urges
Plans For Tax Cut
And Public Works

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Business leaders today advised the government to lay advanced plans for across-the-board income tax cuts and public works to resist any "serious" business slump—but not to use them prematurely.

The Committee for Economic Development (CED), private but influential research organization of businessmen and economists, said that while moderate economic swings are inevitable, a major depression can be avoided.

The CED policy statement described the country's built-in defenses against economic decline as being "strong—stronger than ever before—but they can be strengthened further."

It cautioned, however, that it would be hazardous to use tax cuts or public works in dealing with "small, short and uncertainly forecast recessions."

Dozen Measures Urged
"The stimulating effect would probably not start until the need for it had passed," it said, "and would continue even though it created a danger of inflation."

The committee acknowledged it couldn't set up a yardstick for determining when strong medicine is needed. It emphasized that the seriousness of an economic decline "cannot be simply measured by one figure—the number of unemployed."

It urged a dozen preparedness measures on industry and all levels of government, but emphasized that a "temporary cut in federal taxes" would be the most immediately effective method of restoring demand in a major downturn.

It said the administration should plan in advance, and discuss with leaders of Congress, possible types of emergency tax reduction to take effect for one year or some other specified period, the cuts, then would expire unless renewed by Congress.

Exemption Hike Suggested
"Ordinarily the tax cut should take the form of an across-the-board cut in individual income tax rates," the report said, "but there may be circumstances in which some other tax change would be preferable."

Three CED members inserted a footnote suggesting that an increase in exemptions for dependents should be considered "in some circumstances." The three were economist Beardsley Ruml, former Under Secretary of Commerce, Wayne C. Taylor, and James F. Brownlee, New York investment banker.

Democrats in Congress have proposed an immediate increase in exemptions to $700 or $800 per person, but the Eisenhower administration is opposing this move.

Air Aid For French

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today the United States is taking a fresh look at the possibility of sending more bombers and transports to the beleaguered French in Indochina.

A French request for more air aid, made several months ago, took on renewed emphasis in the light of two developments: the visit to Washington of Gen. Paul Ely, chief of staff of the French armed forces, and what may be a showdown battle looming at the French fortress city of Dien Bien Phu.

Search Ends As Pole Admits
Story Of Plane Crash Hoax

BOLZANO, Italy, March 21 (AP)—A 24-hour search by more than 200 Italian Alpine mountain troops for a crashed American military plane ended abruptly tonight. The self-styled American sergeant who reported the crash proved to be an imaginative Pole.

The hoax, which kept searchers combing the Alps all last night, was discovered by a six-man U. S. Air Force rescue team sent to Italy from Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany.

"It's all phony," Capt. William E. McKee of Sioux City, Iowa, head of the team, radioed after arriving in this north Italian city by jeep. He said that although dressed in an Air Force uniform a wrecked plane.

German Leaders
Oppose French
Saar Proposal

BONN, Germany, March 21 (AP)—Leaders of two West German government parties and the opposition Socialists called today for rejection of the newest French proposal for Europeanization of the Saar. Talks on this stubborn postwar problem ground to a temporary halt.

Further negotiations on the quarrel over future control of the coal-rich border basin probably will be held up until Chancellor Konrad Adenauer returns from his trip to Turkey this weekend. The French want the issue settled before they ratify the European Defense Community Pact. The Germans think that timing is wrong.

No Hint Of Talk Collapse
French sources said the Saar talks here between Andre Francois-Poncet, the French high commissioner, and Herbert Blankenhorn, West German ambassador at large, have run into difficulties. But they said there is no hint they have been suspended or broken off. One high French official said there was no reason to suppose a solution would not be worked out eventually.

One major problem is that while Adenauer is reported ready to compromise on the Saar for the sake of EDC his partners in the four-party coalition government are not so ready to do so.

Hellwege's Contention
Heinrich Hellwege, Adenauer's minister for relations with the Bundesrat (upper house of parliament), and leader of the right wing German party, said West Germans could only approve of "such a change (Europeanization) in the Saar's status if a European community is achieved at the same time."

Erich Ollenhauer, Socialist chairman, told a party conference in Hausham, Bavaria, the "so-called Europeanization wanted by Paris is actually the legalization of a cold annexation performed by France as an occupation power."

Chairman Thomas Dehler of the Free Democratic party, second strongest in the Adenauer four-party coalition, told a rally in the Ruhr his party would "not accept any solution which perpetuates the autonomy of the Saar."

Senator Urges
Use Of Device
In Feud ProbeSubcommittee Will Determine Whether Procedure Proper

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) suggested the use of lie detector tests today as a way to get at the truth in his controversy with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

He said that when the Senate Investigations subcommittee meets Tuesday, he intends to recommend that it ask all witnesses, including himself, whether they would be willing to submit to a lie detector test in its probe of the sensational case.

Expressing "complete confidence in this scientific instrument when it is operated properly," McCarthy said he hoped that witnesses called in the investigation would agree to undergo such tests if the subcommittee adopts this procedure.

Question Of Procedure
In a statement to newsmen returning with him from a four-day Midwestern speaking tour, McCarthy said that his proposal for voluntary lie detector tests "is, of course, only a suggestion on my part."

"It is up to the full subcommittee to determine whether this is proper procedure," he said.

The subcommittee session called for Tuesday is to receive a report from Sen. Mundt (R-SD) on efforts to obtain a special counsel for the investigation and other plans for promised public hearings on the conflicting charges.

McCarthy has stepped aside as chairman of the subcommittee for the probe, being replaced by Mundt. With Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), ranking minority member, Mundt has been trying to prevail on a nationally prominent lawyer to serve as counsel.

Testify Under Oath
The subcommittee agreed last week that testimony would be taken under oath, but McCarthy said his past experience as a circuit court judge in Wisconsin had convinced him of the value of lie detector tests in getting at the truth.

A lie detector, technically known as a polygraph, is designed to measure the pulse, respiration, perspiration, blood pressure and other bodily reactions of a person who is being questioned.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover has publicly questioned their reliability, and tests made with them are not admissible as evidence in the courts of any state unless they were made voluntarily.

McCarthy has suggested the use of lie detectors in other cases, but no Senate committee has ever done so.

Eight Of Family
Perish In Fire

SHEFFIELD, Ala., March 21 (AP)—Eight members of a Sheffield family, including five small children, died today in a fire that destroyed their frame home.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Boatwright, 36 and 25 years old; Mrs. Boatwright's mother, Mrs. Clara McDonald, 59; and the Boatwright children, Wanda, 7, Glenda Gail, 6, Clarence Rickie, 5, J. T., 4, and Stephen 2.

Mrs. Boatwright was expecting another child in June. Boatwright was an ornamental worker.

Neighbors noticed the fire about midnight but the house was wrapped in flames before they could turn in an alarm.

Wanda, the oldest child, fled from the burning dwelling and was found lying in the back yard by a neighbor, Mitchell Bradley. Glenda, Clarence and Mrs. McDonald were pulled from the flames but all four died later.

Mr. and Mrs. Boatwright and the other children died in the burning house. The bodies of the parents were found in bed.

Two Air Force Men
Die In Plane Collision

DAYTON, Ohio, March 21 (AP)—A Corsair fighter and a jet training plane crashed in the air today, killing two Air Force officers. A young Naval Air Reserve pilot was seriously injured, escaping death through what Air Force officials said was a near-miracle.

The collision occurred about three miles east of nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Wright-Patterson officials identified the dead as Capt. Fred F. Sigmund Jr., 30, and 1st Lt. John W. Plass, 29, both stationed at Craig Air Force Base near Selma, Ala. Home towns of the victims were not immediately learned.

Veteran Hearst Executive Dies

BOSTON, March 21 (AP)—Walter Crawford Howey, long-time Hearst newspaper executive and the real life prototype of colorful editor Walter Burns in the play "Front Page," died today in his sleep at his Back Bay apartment. He was 72.

Death came to the veteran and almost legendary newsman only two months after that of his wife, Gloria, who died Jan. 24 of pneumonia while Howey lay in critical condition at a hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Howey's long newspaper career began as a reporter on the Ft. Dodge (Iowa) Messenger in 1902. He was editor-in-chief of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, the Hearst newspapers in Boston, at the time of his death.

Between those times, he became a living legend as reporter, city editor and managing editor of four Chicago newspapers during a period when Windy City journalism was marked by hectic newspaper competition.

Three Crewmen Die In Danish Ship Fire

PHILADELPHIA, March 21 (AP)—Three crewmen of a Danish freighter were killed early today and two others injured in a flash fire that wrecked their below deck sleeping quarters.

The 5,000-ton freighter, Gudrun Maersk, was anchored at Pier 98 South in the Delaware River when the blaze was discovered.

Eleven crewmen were asleep when the alarm was sounded. Nine others were not in their bunks. Eight officers had other quarters.

Youth Helps Prosecute Own Parents

Leroy Scherer, Jr., 16, Chicago, is helping prosecute his parents, accused of deserting him and his four brothers and sisters nearly six years ago. Shown in felony court are (left to right) Leroy Scherer, 39, the father; Mrs. Eva Scherer, 38, the mother; Leroy, Jr., and Mrs. William Modell, the boy's grandmother. The children ranged in age from two to 10 years when they were abandoned and placed in foster homes.

German Leaders Oppose French Saar Proposal

BONN, Germany, March 21 (AP)—Leaders of two West German government parties and the opposition Socialists called today for rejection of the newest French proposal for Europeanization of the Saar. Talks on this stubborn postwar problem ground to a temporary halt.

Further negotiations on the quarrel over future control of the coal-rich border basin probably will be held up until Chancellor Konrad Adenauer returns from his trip to Turkey this weekend. The French want the issue settled before they ratify the European Defense Community Pact. The Germans think that timing is wrong.

No Hint Of Talk Collapse

French sources said the Saar talks here between Andre Francois-Poncet, the French high commissioner, and Herbert Blankenhorn, West German ambassador at large, have run into difficulties. But they said there is no hint they have been suspended or broken off. One high French official said there was no reason to suppose a solution would not be worked out eventually.

A major problem is that while Adenauer is reported ready to compromise on the Saar for the sake of EDC his partners in the four-party coalition government are not so ready to do so.

Hellwege's Contentment

Heinrich Hellwege, Adenauer's minister for relations with the Bundesrat (upper house of parliament), and leader of the right wing German party, said West Germans could only approve of "such a change (Europeanization) in the Saar's status if a European community is achieved at the same time."

Erich Ollenhauer, Socialist chairman, told a party conference in Hausmann, Bavaria, the "so-called Europeanization wanted by Paris is actually the legalization of a cold annexation performed by France as an occupation power."

Chairman Thomas Dehler of the Free Democratic party, second strongest in the Adenauer four-party coalition, told a rally in the Ruhr his party would "not accept any solution which perpetuates the autonomy of the Saar."

U.S. Considers More Air Aid For French

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today the United States is taking a fresh look at the possibility of sending more bombers and transports to the beleaguered French in Indochina.

A French request for more air aid, made several months ago, took on renewed emphasis in the light of two developments: the visit to Washington of Gen. Paul Ely, chief of staff of the French armed forces, and what may be a showdown battle looming at the French fortress city of Dien Bien Phu.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 21 (AP)—Samuel Shellabarger, a former English professor who wrote best-selling, swashbuckling historical novels, died today of a heart attack at his home. He was 65.

Shellabarger was stricken a few minutes after midnight. His latest book, "Lord Vanity," is near the top of the bestseller lists. His best known novels include "Captain From Castile," "Prince of Foxes," and "The King's Cavalier."

Train Holdup Nets Bandit $200,000 In Gems And Cash

CENTRALIA, Mo., March 21 (AP)—Authorities today pushed an investigation of a "well-planned" robbery on a moving train that netted a holdup man an estimated $200,000 in diamonds and cash near here last night.

John Gray, 55-year-old diamond salesman, was shot in the foot as the bandit seized a brief case containing the gems and the money. The holdup man jumped from the train as it pulled into the Centralia station and fled in a waiting car. Witnesses said the auto was driven by a woman.

The FBI, state highway patrol and local officers today questioned passengers on the train and persons at the station when the train arrived, but said no new clues had developed on the man's disappearance.

Moscow Sends Greece Protest Over U.S. Bases

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—The Soviet Union has sent a note of protest to Greece over United States military bases in that country, Moscow Radio said tonight.

A similar note from the Russians was handed to the Netherlands government at The Hague yesterday. Earlier in the week the Kremlin assailed Turkey's planned military security pact with Pakistan, a country recently granted American military aid.

This was Russia's second note to Greece on the subject. A note Oct. 26, protested that the use of bases was "evidence of the fact that the Greek government has started to carry out measures for direct preparation of a new war."

The new note reviewed claims in the earlier note that American bases in Crete and plans for bases on other islands of the Aegean Sea endangered the peace of the Balkans. It concluded:

"The Soviet government again draws the attention of the Greek government to the fact that the responsibility for the consequences of implementing the above mentioned military measures rests fully with the government of Greece."

Yugoslavs Ask Asylum

LISBON, Portugal, March 21 (AP)—Two members of the Yugoslav volleyball team which won the international tournament here last week have asked Portugal for political asylum, an official spokesman said today.

Douglas Seeks Auto, Appliance Excise Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) announced tonight he will seek to amend the excise bill now in the Senate to give 382 million dollars of additional tax relief.

The new cuts he has in mind would apply to automobiles and household appliances such as refrigerators, stoves, dryers and ironers. These are not affected by the pending bill.

As passed by the House, the measure cut to 10 per cent about 25 excise taxes on "luxury" goods for an annual revenue loss of 912 million dollars.

Senate Debate Near

The Senate Finance Committee raised that figure to 962 millions by removing admissions taxes from movie tickets costing less than 60 cents.

The Senate is expected to begin debating the cuts by the middle of the week.

Douglas said on a television program ("Meet Your Congress") that the fault with the excise bill was that it "chopped taxes on luxuries like expensive furs and jewelry but made no cuts on necessities and nonluxuries like refrigerators, ranges and ironers."

3% Drop In Auto Tax

His proposed amendment would let a cut in the excise tax on cars take effect as scheduled at the end of this month instead of being continued for a year as provided in the bill. This drop would be from 10 to seven per cent of the manufacturer's price.

Douglas said it should mean a $50 price cut on autos. The revenue loss would be 276 million in the year.

The amendment would eliminate the present 10 per cent tax on household appliances. This levy now yields about 106 million in a year. The Illinois senator said such a step should save about $25 on the price of a larger appliance such as a refrigerator.

MONTEFASCON, Italy, March 21 (AP)—A young couple, thwarted by parents in their desire to marry, blew themselves up with a hand grenade today in Montefiascone's public garden. Giacomo Pieretti, 25, died instantly. His fiancée, Edda Pallotta, also 25, died in a hospital.

Police said Edda's parents had refused permission for their daughter to marry Pieretti.

Search Ends As Pole Admits Story Of Plane Crash Hoax

BOLZANO, Italy, March 21 (AP)—A 24-hour search by more than 200 Italian Alpine mountain troops for a crashed American military plane ended abruptly tonight. The self-styled American sergeant who reported the crash proved to be an imaginative Pole.

The hoax, which kept searchers combing the Alps all last night, was discovered by a six-man U. S. Air Force rescue team sent to Italy from Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany.

"It's all phony," Capt. William E. McKee of Sioux City, Iowa, head of the team, radioed after arriving in this north Italian city by jeep. He said that although dressed in an Air Force uniform the man "obviously is an impostor."

Senator Urges Use Of Device In Feud Probe

Subcommittee Will Determine Whether Procedure Proper

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) suggested the use of lie detector tests today as a way to get at the truth in his controversy with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

He said that when the Senate Investigations subcommittee meets Tuesday, he intends to recommend that it ask all witnesses, including himself, whether they would be willing to submit to a lie detector test in its probe of the sensation-packed case.

Expressing "complete confidence in this scientific instrument when it is operated properly," McCarthy said he hoped that witnesses called in the investigation would agree to undergo such tests if the subcommittee adopts this procedure.

Question Of Procedure
In a statement to newsmen returning with him from a four-day Midwestern speaking tour, McCarthy said that his proposal for voluntary lie detector tests "is, of course, only a suggestion on my part."

"It is up to the full subcommittee to determine whether this is proper procedure," he said. The subcommittee session called for Tuesday is to receive a report from Sen. Mundt (R-SD) on efforts to obtain a special counsel for the investigation and other plans for promised public hearings on the conflicting charges.

McCarthy has stepped aside as chairman of the subcommittee for the probe, being replaced by Mundt. With Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), ranking minority member, Mundt has been trying to prevail on a nationally prominent lawyer to serve as counsel.

The subcommittee agreed last week that testimony would be taken under oath, but McCarthy said his past experience as a circuit court judge in Wisconsin had convinced him of the value of lie detector tests in getting at the truth.

A lie detector, technically known as a polygraph, is designed to measure the pulse, respiration, perspiration, blood pressure and other bodily reactions of a person who is being questioned.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover has publicly questioned their reliability, and tests made with them are not admissible as evidence in the courts of any state unless they were made voluntarily.

McCarthy has suggested the use of lie detectors in other cases, but no Senate committee has ever done so.

Eight Of Family Perish In Fire
SHEFFIELD, Ala., March 21 (AP)—Eight members of a Sheffield family, including five small children, died today in a fire that destroyed their frame home.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Boatwright, 36 and 25 years old; Mrs. Boatwright's mother, Mrs. Clara McDonald, 59; and the Boatwright children, Wanda, 7, Glenda Gail, 6, Clarence Rickie, 5, J. T., 4, and Stephen 2.

Mrs. Boatwright was expecting another child in June. Boatwright was an ornamental worker.

Neighbors noticed the fire about midnight but the house was wrapped in flames before they could turn in an alarm.

Wanda, the oldest child, fled from the burning dwelling and was found lying in the back yard by a neighbor, Mitchell Bradley. Glenda, Clarence and Mrs. McDonald were pulled from the flames but all four died later.

Mr. and Mrs. Boatwright and the other children died in the burning house. The bodies of the parents were found in bed.

Two Air Force Men Die In Plane Collision

DAYTON, Ohio, March 21 (AP)—A Corsair fighter and a jet training plane crashed in the air today, killing two Air Force officers. A young Naval Air Reserve pilot was seriously injured, escaping death through what Air Force officials said was a near-miracle.

The collision occurred about three miles east of nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. Wright-Patterson officials identified the dead as Capt. Fred F. Siegmund Jr., 30, and 1st Lt. John W. Plass, 29, both stationed at Craig Air Force Base near Selma, Ala. Home towns of the victims were not immediately learned.

Byrd Declares He Earns Salary, Accuses Mahoney Of 'Trickery'

Candidate Says He Plans To Give Up Pay On July 1

[By The Associated Press]

Dr. H. C. Byrd said Sunday night he is earning the salary being paid him as president emeritus of the University of Maryland and accused George P. Mahoney, his opponent for Democratic nomination for governor of "political trickery" in criticizing it.

"That kind of political chicanery is in keeping with the three campaigns which my opponent has previously carried out in Maryland, in which he claimed he would destroy or ruin his opponents," Byrd said.

"There is a good deal of adverse feeling to this type of campaign, but if my opponent wishes to carry on this kind of campaign, I shall not criticize him, because I have always found it futile to blame a thimble for not being able to hold as much as a glass."

Byrd said a statement by the manager of his headquarters that he had declined an annual salary of $22,500 voted him by the Board of Regents of the university was a misunderstanding on the speaker's part. He said he was receiving the salary at that rate but did not plan to continue it beyond the beginning of the next fiscal year, July 1.

Mahoney had said Saturday that records at the comptroller's office showed Byrd was still drawing his full salary as president emeritus despite a statement to the contrary by E. Brooke Lee, manager of the Byrd headquarters.

After Republicans in the Legislature had attempted to strike the Byrd salary from the budget, Lee had said Dr. Byrd told him he had notified the Board of Regents he wanted terminal leave pay instead of a full salary. This, Lee said, would amount to some 40 per cent less.

Dr. Byrd said Lee had misunderstood the situation. He said he had "indicated to certain members of the Board of Regents that I did not intend to accept any salary from that budget and indicated to them what I would like to have done with the money; namely, to create a loan fund to help poor boys and girls in Baltimore City and the counties to attend the university."

Judge William P. Cole, chairman of the board of regents, had said after the Mahoney statement that he did not recall Dr. Byrd ever having asked the board not to pay him a salary as president emeritus. He said Byrd had asked to be given sabbatical leave which would have continued the salary but relieved him of certain advisory and other duties he has as president emeritus.

The victim was identified as Alex Koot, a 70-year-old pensioner. Several persons, including a one-legged man, John Richardson, 54, were rescued by firemen.

The fire broke out in a six-story plant at 1224 W. Madison St., housing the Leroy Manufacturing Co., and spread to an adjacent factory and a four-story apartment hotel.

The victim, her 2-year-old son Ronald, was pronounced dead at a hospital.

McKeldin Urges Public Demand More Troopers

BALTIMORE, March 21 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today urged the public to speak up and demand that legislators increase the state police force.

He called it "actually and literally a matter of life and death" in a speech taped for a radio broadcast.

The governor said allowance of only 25 of the 50 additional troopers he asked at the last session was "one matter in which I cannot praise the General Assembly as a whole."

Budget cuts for the most part won't cripple state operations "with good management," he said. But he deplored striking out $100,000 to slash his police request.

"I can find no extenuating circumstances for those members who, year after year, have voted to reduce the requests which I have made for increasing the strength of the Maryland State Police," McKeldin said.

"This is the matter of life and death to which I have referred and in which I want to arouse the well-deserved interest of the people of Maryland."

In 1952 he had sought 25 additional troopers and the Legislature granted 10. The next year he proposed 40 more and got 20.

Both the governor and Col. Elmer F. Munshower, police superintendent, have said 515 troopers are needed for effective highway patrol. The present uniformed strength is 281.

Airliner Sets Record

HONG KONG, March 21 (AP)—Pan American World Airways announced today its DC6 plane, Aurora, set a new record from Bangkok to Hong Kong—3 hours, 49 minutes. The scheduled time for the 1,014-mile flight is 4 hours, 51 minutes. Piloted by Capt. J.H. Hamilton of San Francisco, the plane was helped by a brisk tailwind.

The plane was about 100 feet from the top of the mountain five miles southeast of Tazewell. The pilot who spotted the craft was Capt. Lyle M. Carter, a member of the Air National Guard Squadron at Charleston, W. Va.

The wrecked plane came down in rugged terrain and had burned, field crews reported to the CAP at Charleston.

Plane Wreckage Found; Pilot Dead

TAZEWELL, Va., March 21 (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol said the wreckage of a missing F51 fighter plane from Michigan, the body of the pilot still in the cockpit, was found today near the top of a 4,700-foot mountain.

The pilot was not immediately identified. State Police said papers on the body carried the name Robert C. Smith.

Earlier, the Air National Guard at Charlotte had identified the pilot of the missing plane as Lt. R.B. Smith of Lansing, Mich., a member of the Michigan Air National Guard.

CAP and state police reached the wreckage this afternoon after the pilot of a West Virginia Air National Guard search plane sighted the wreckage from the air.

The plane was about 100 feet from the top of the mountain five miles southeast of Tazewell. The pilot who spotted the craft was Capt. Lyle M. Carter, a member of the Air National Guard Squadron at Charleston, W. Va.

The wrecked plane came down in rugged terrain and had burned, field crews reported to the CAP at Charleston.

Governor Raps Immigration Act

ATLANTA, March 21 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, in a verbal blast at religious intolerance, today termed the McCarran Immigration Act "a defeat in our long struggle for religious freedom and democratic equality."

McKeldin told 350 delegates to the Southeast Regional Conference of the United Jewish Appeal that the immigration law "opens the way to harsh treatment of aliens and goes much farther than necessary for the protection of the national interest."

"It abandons the humane ideal of America as a haven for the oppressed and it creates second-class American citizens—a concept that is abhorrent to the democratic spirit."

McKeldin called upon all Americans to help "obliterate from the life of our nation . . . discrimination, defamation and every form of degradation."

Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman of Milwaukee told the conference that Arab leaders "stand self-condemned before the entire world as architects of bitterness, tension and provocation" because of their "repeated refusal to talk peace with Israel, let alone conclude a peace."

Political Battles Shape Up In East, Particularly In Maine, N.Y. And N.J.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The din of lusty fighting already is sounding on political battlefields in the East, particularly in Maine, New York and New Jersey.

A scrap worth keeping an eye on is the tussle in the Republican primary in Maine to pick a candidate for the Senate seat of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. Mrs. Smith, no admirer of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), has been challenged by a young man who is—Robert L. Jones of Biddeford.

So far, McCarthy is only an on-looker.

Down in New York, the voters are relishing the prospect of a November slugging match between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., for the seat Dewey now holds in the Statehouse.

Party prestige, as much as personalities, is at stake in New Jersey. Democrats are trying to hold the momentum that allowed them to elect a governor last fall and snatch a House seat from the GOP. Republicans are bent on proving the Democratic victories were flukes.

The situation elsewhere in the East as it appears at the moment to Associated Press political writers, includes the following:

Pennsylvania Republican factions have managed to avoid an open clash and get together on a candidate for governor without any blood letting.

In West Virginia, Republicans are bothered by party purges. Democrats by upheavals around the Statehouse.

Here and there, AP correspondents find people are talking about recession, McCarthy, and Eisenhower administration policies. But, except to the extent that McCarthy may figure in the Maine primary, these are issues largely for the general election in November.

So far, there hasn't been a primary anywhere in the country—the first is set for April 13 in pick 122 House members for spots now held by 75 Republicans and 47 Democrats. Of the 122 seats, 32 are "marginal." That is, the members won them in 1952 by 55 per cent or less of the total vote.

Of these marginal seats, Democrats now occupy 18, Republicans 14.

So just on a statistical basis alone, there is plenty of room for some heavy political fighting in the East in the months ahead.

Byrd Declares He Earns Salary, Accuses Mahoney Of 'Trickery'

Candidate Says He Plans To Give Up Pay On July 1

(By The Associated Press)

Dr. H. C. Byrd said Sunday night he is earning the salary being paid him as president emeritus of the University of Maryland and accused George P. Mahoney, his opponent for Democratic nomination for governor of "political trickery" in criticizing it.

"That kind of political chicanery is in keeping with the three campaigns which my opponent has previously carried out in Maryland, in which he claimed he would destroy or ruin his opponents," Byrd said.

"There is a good deal of adverse feeling to this type of campaign, but if my opponent wishes to carry on this kind of campaign, I shall not criticize him, because I have always found it futile to blame a thimble for not being able to hold as much as a glass."

Byrd said a statement by the manager of his headquarters that he had declined an annual salary of $22,500 voted him by the Board of Regents of the university was a misunderstanding of the spokesman's part. He said he was receiving the salary at that rate but did not plan to continue it beyond the beginning of the next fiscal year, July 1.

Mahoney had said Saturday that records at the comptroller's office showed Byrd was still drawing his full salary as president emeritus despite a statement to the contrary by E. Brooke Lee, manager of the Byrd headquarters.

After Republicans in the Legislature had attempted to strike the Byrd salary from the budget, Lee had said Dr. Byrd told him he had notified the Board of Regents he wanted terminal leave pay instead of a full salary. This, Lee said, would amount to some 40 per cent less.

Judge William P. Martinsburg Council Backs Manager Plan

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 21 (AP)—City Council has unanimously approved a city manager plan of government for Martinsburg as recommended by a special citizens committee.

After taking the action last night, Council scheduled a public meeting for April 27 to explain proposed changes and to hear any objection. If any objections are received the matter will be submitted to a public vote in the biennial election June 8. Otherwise, Council can make the change which would become effective in two years.

The couple left their car in a parking lot last night. Upon returning they found a newborn lamb in the car.

Police said they could keep the animal. Today they purchased the necessary bottle and nipples for feeding it.

McKeldin Urges Public Demand More Troopers

BALTIMORE, March 21 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today urged the public to speak up and demand that legislators increase the state police force.

He called it "actually and literally a matter of life and death" in a speech taped for a radio broadcast.

The governor said allowance of only 25 of the 50 additional troopers he asked at the last session was "one matter in which I cannot praise the General Assembly as a whole."

Budget cuts for the most part won't cripple state operations "with good management," he said. But he deplored striking out $100,000 to slash his police request.

"I can find no extenuating circumstances for those members who, year after year, have voted to reduce the requests which I have made for increasing the strength of the Maryland State Police," McKeldin said.

"This is the matter of life and death to which I have referred and in which I want to arouse the well-deserved interest of the people of Maryland."

In 1952 he had sought 25 additional troopers and the Legislature granted 10. The next year he proposed 40 more and got 20.

Both the governor and Col. Elmer F. Munshower, police superintendent, have said 515 troopers are needed for effective highway patrol. The present uniformed strength is 281.

Airliner Sets Record

HONG KONG, March 21 (AP)—Pan American World Airways announced today its DC6 plane, Aurora, set a new record from Bangkok to Hong Kong—3 hours, 49 minutes. The scheduled time for the 1,014-mile flight is 4 hours, 51 minutes. Piloted by Capt. J.H. Hamilton of San Francisco, the plane was helped by a brisk tailwind.

Man Kills Wife, Wounds Children, Shoots Himself

WICHITA, Kan., March 21 (AP)—A 38-year-old man went berserk early today, killing his wife and wounding his two children before shooting himself.

Police identified the dead man as John K. Leidy. He shot himself in the head and his wife, Rose Marie, three times in the head.

A daughter, Linda Sue, 7, was wounded in the head. The other child, John Scott Leidy, 2, was wounded in the head. First reports said both children were bathing in a tub when shot.

Police were summoned to the Leidy home when Linda Sue called neighbors for help.

Governor Raps Immigration Act

ATLANTA, March 21 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, in a verbal blast at religious intolerance, today termed the McCarran Immigration Act "a defeat in our long struggle for religious freedom and democratic equality."

McKeldin told 350 delegates to the Southeast Regional Conference of the United Jewish Appeal that the immigration law "opens the way to harsh treatment of aliens and goes much farther than necessary for the protection of the national interest."

"It abandons the humane ideal of America as a haven for the oppressed and it creates second-class American citizens—a concept that is abhorrent to the democratic spirit."

McKeldin called upon all Americans to help "obliterate from the life of our nation . . . discrimination, defamation and every form of degradation."

Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman of Milwaukee told the conference that Arab leaders "stand self-condemned before the entire world as architects of bitterness, tension and provocation" because of their "repeated refusal to talk peace with Israel, let alone conclude a peace."

Political Battles Shape Up In East, Particularly In Maine, N.Y. And N.J.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The din of lusty fighting already is sounding on political battlefields in the East, particularly in Maine, New York and New Jersey.

A scrap worth keeping an eye on is the tussle in the Republican primary in Maine to pick a candidate for the Senate seat of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. Mrs. Smith, no admirer of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), has been challenged by a young man who is Robert L. Jones of Biddeford.

So far, McCarthy is only an on-looker.

Down in New York, the voters are relishing the prospect of a November slugging match between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., for the seat Dewey now holds in the Statehouse.

Party prestige, as much as personalities, is at stake in New Jersey. Democrats are trying to hold the momentum that allowed them to elect a governor last fall and snatch a House seat from the GOP. Republicans are bent on proving the Democratic victories were flukes.

The situation elsewhere in the East as it appears at the moment to Associated Press political writers, includes the following:

Pennsylvania Republican factions have managed to avoid an open clash and get together on a candidate for governor without any blood letting.

In West Virginia, Republicans are bothered by party purges. Democrats by upheavals around the Statehouse.

Here and there, AP correspondents find people are talking about recession, McCarthy, and Eisenhower administration policies. But, except to the extent that McCarthy may figure in the Maine primary, these are issues largely for the general election in November.

So far, there hasn't been a primary anywhere in the country—the first is set for April 13 in pick 122 House members for spots now held by 75 Republicans and 47 Democrats. Of the 122 seats, 32 are "marginal." That is, the members won them in 1952 by 55 per cent or less of the total vote.

Of these marginal seats, Democrats now occupy 18, Republicans 14.

So just on a statistical basis alone, there is plenty of room for some heavy political fighting in the East in the months ahead.

THE NEW 115-H.P. I-BLOCK SIX

like the V-8, has Ford's deep-block design. It gives a dividend of 14% more power. And, like the V-8, it has Ford's High-Turbulence Combustion Chambers for more complete and economical fuel combustion. The new I-block Six is the latest word in high-compression, low-friction Six design.

FORD'S BRAND-NEW 130-H.P. Y-BLOCK V-8 with its extra-deep crankcase and 5-bearing crankshaft, has greater rigidity for fine-car smoothness and longer engine life. Its new Double-Deck Intake Manifold, shorter piston stroke and Free-Turning Overhead Valves help give every new Ford owner a dividend of 18% more power . . . greater economy.

"I," "Y" and Handsome!

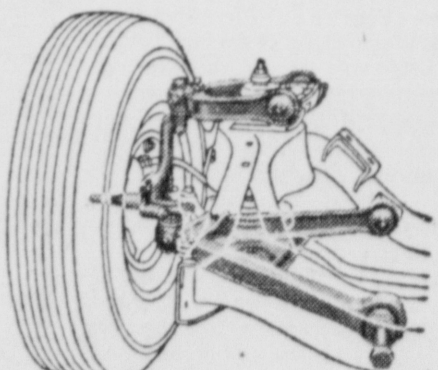

No other car, regardless of price, offers you two such modern engines as Ford with its I-block Six and Y-block V-8. And to go with these and its many other modern features, Ford brings you the trend-setting style of the industry.

Once you step into a new '54 Ford for a Test Drive you'll see for yourself the reasons why thousands are swinging to Ford! For besides Ford's new engines there are many other new features that make driving much easier and more pleasant. Ford's smooth, eye-catching styling is matched in beauty by its completely new trend-setting interiors. Then there's Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension that makes possible a smoother ride and easier steering . . . and, at extra cost, 5 optional power assists. All these features, and many more, add up to make Ford the one fine car in the low-price field.

4-Way Power Front Seat moves up and down, forward and back, at the touch of a button. Like Ford's other optional power assists (power steering, power brakes, power windows and Fordomatic), this power seat gives you so much extra comfort and convenience that it's almost a "must".

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension replaces the conventional kingpin system used in most other cars. The simple ball-joint system eliminates 12 wear-points . . . helps keep wheels in line longer . . . and means your Ford will keep that new car "feel" for more miles.

Firemen revived all three.

Ice Cream Truck Runs Over, Kills Boy

BALTIMORE, March 21 (AP)—Mrs. Herman Kress hailed an ice cream truck yesterday and bought something to satisfy the sweet tooth of her three young sons.

A few blocks away police stopped the truck and told the driver his vehicle had run over a boy at an earlier stop. The driver apparently had pulled off unaware of the accident.

Mrs. Kress also was unaware of the accident when she made her purchase a few moments after it occurred.

The victim, her 2-year-old son Ronald, was pronounced dead at a hospital.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, who have two married children and five grandchildren, agreed. Pete flew in from Seattle and met his new parents-to-be early today.

Stove League of the City Recreation Department and sponsoring three local boys in the oratorical contest at the 16th District Optimist convention in June at Newport News, Va.

The local winner in the oratorical contest will attend the Optimist International convention in July at Atlantic City, according to Homer S. Higgins, chairman of the oratorical contest.

Easement Action Delays Sewer Line

According to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, the construction of the Homer Street sewer will get underway as soon as the easement to run the line under the B & O Railroad property is secured.

B & O officials in Baltimore have promised an answer on the city's request for permission to lay the line across its property, and A. W. Conley, division superintendent, is trying to expedite the plan.

The first 150 feet of the 700 foot storm and sanitary pipe crosses the B & O property.

Council To Study Water Needs At Proposed New Plant's Site

The Mayor and Council have been asked to consider the possibility of installing a water line to the Mexico Farms site recently purchased by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company — if it is finally decided to construct a plant there.

A letter mailed Saturday to the Council by Albert H. Hargreaves, director of industrial development for the Chamber of Commerce, will be taken up at the regular meeting today.

Hargreaves pointed out that "so many gallons of water" will be needed for fire protection, in addition to a standby supply in case the river runs dry and for sanitary purposes.

The city was informed of the situation, Hargreaves said, to allow officials to discuss the issue in the event the company decides to locate on the 603 acres of land.

If construction gets underway, it is assumed the city would need to install a line to the site and meet the requirements of the plant.

Hargreaves' letter was in the form of a suggestion. He sought no definite action at present, other than to ask the city to check the water line possibility and other statistics to have facts available.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards is expected to present figures on possible revenue from the plant at tomorrow's Council session.

Purchase price of the Mexico Farms land is reported to exceed $150,000.

Allegany Band To Give Concert

April 2 is the date set for the senior band concert to be presented in the Allegany High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The majorettes will twirl to "Them Besses" and the band will conclude the first half of the program with the "Misty Mountain" (Darcy), and "His Honor March," (Fulmore).

The concert will continue with "Knightsbridge March" (Coates); "Trumpet Polka," (LaValle and Forto) with Peggy Thompson, Kathryn Eiler and Peggy Frith; "Trumpet Boogie," (Anthony); "E Pluribus Unum," (Jewell); "Ave Maria," (Schubert), and "America on Parade," (Klitz). Grant Co. Plans Special Election On School Tax

April 2 Is Date For Referendum

PETERSBURG — The Grant County Board of Education has ordered a special election on April 2, on the question of the continuation of the extra levy for another period of three years. This action was taken after the Board heard the reading of petitions asking for school improvements and signed by organized groups of parents from the different communities in the county.

The extra levy has been in effect for the past six years with funds from this source being used in the building program. The county received $32,823 from the state as a result of this levy. New school plants were built at Maysville, Town Hill, Dorcas, and Forman. Additions were built to schools at Mt. Storm, Bayard, Petersburg Grade and Petersburg High.

A citizen's committee, elected by the representatives of each consolidated school in the county, presented the facts of a survey which the entire committee had made of the county school system. This committee pointed out to the Board that its recommendations would provide the badly needed facilities in the schools without any increase in taxes. The plan, according to the committee, is the continuation of the levy now in effect, for another three years.

This proposition, if passed by a vote of the people on April 2, will provide approximately $83,000 or $75,000 when ten percent is deducted for delinquencies. These figures are based on the assessment of the previous year and would fluctuate somewhat with any change in assessments.

Money thus provided would be spent as recommended by the citizen's committee and approved by the Board of Education about as follows:

Add two additional classrooms, a furnace and furnace room to Petersburg Grade School.

Improve the lighting system, provide additional equipment and furniture, and enlarge the seating capacity of the gymnasium at Bayard High School.

Construct a classroom, improve the lighting system and additional furniture and equipment for Petersburg High School.

Install a stoker and furnace for Bayard Grade School.

Painting, concrete walk and furniture renewal at Town Hill School.

Furniture and equipment for Maysville Grade School.

Furniture, landscaping and equipment for Forman School.

Water supply and equipment for Mt. Storm and Dorcas schools.

Repairs, renovation, landscaping and equipment as needed in one room schools.

Jack S. Kent, superintendent of the Petersburg Tannery Co., served as chairman of the citizen's committee and the other members were: Raymond Yanke, William Inskeep, Mrs. Adelaide Sites, Houghland Taylor, Kermit Berg, Mrs. Beulah Shillingberg, Mrs. Myrtle Moreland, H. R. Fulk, Sr., M. F. White and Emmitt Inskeep.

This committee made a tour of all the consolidated schools in the county on March 1, and then met in conference in which they pooled their ideas and made recommendations that have been approved by the Board of Education.

The officials for the special election are all volunteers who have offered to donate their services for the day.

KEYSER — Franklin High School won two of four events in the District IX West Virginia Interscholastic Forensic League contest held at Potomac State College here Saturday with nine area schools competing.

Grant Co. Plans Special Election On School Tax

April 2 Is Date
For Referendum

PETERSBURG — The Grant County Board of Education has ordered a special election on April 2, on the question of the continuation of the extra levy for another period of three years. This action was taken after the Board heard the reading of petitions asking for school improvements and signed by organized groups of parents from the different communities in the county.

The extra levy has been in effect for the past six years with funds from this source being used in the building program. The county received $32,823 from the state as a result of this levy. New school plants were built at Maysville, Town Hill, Dorcas, and Forman. Additions were built to schools at Mt. Storm, Bayard, Petersburg Grade and Petersburg High.

A citizen's committee, elected by the representatives of each consolidated school in the county, presented the facts of a survey which the entire committee had made of the county school system. This committee pointed out to the Board that its recommendations would provide the badly needed facilities in the schools without any increase in taxes. The plan, according to the committee, is the continuation of the levy now in effect, for another three years.

This proposition, if passed by a vote of the people on April 2, will provide approximately $83,000 or $75,000 when ten percent is deducted for delinquencies. These figures are based on the assessment of the previous year and would fluctuate somewhat with any change in assessments.

Money thus provided would be spent as recommended by the citizen's committee and approved by the Board of Education about as follows:

Add two additional classrooms, a furnace and furnace room to Petersburg Grade School.

Improve the lighting system, provide additional equipment and furniture, and enlarge the seating capacity of the gymnasium at Bayard High School.

Construct a classroom, improve the lighting system and additional furniture and equipment for Petersburg High School.

Install a stoker and furniture for Bayard Grade School.

Painting, concrete walk and furniture renewal at Town Hill School.

Furniture and equipment for Maysville Grade School.

Furniture, landscaping and equipment for Forman School.

Water supply and equipment for Mt. Storm and Dorcas schools.

Repairs, renovation, landscaping and equipment as needed in one room schools.

Jack S. Kent, superintendent of the Petersburg Tannery Co., served as chairman of the citizen's committee and the other members were: Raymond Yankee, William Inskeep, Mrs. Adelaide Sites, Hougland Taylor, Kermit Berg, Mrs. Beulah Shillingberg, Mrs. Myrtle Moreland, H. R. Fulk, Sr., M. F. White and Emmitt Inskeep.

This committee made a tour of all the consolidated schools in the county on March 1, and then met in conference in which they pooled their ideas and made recommendations that have been approved by the Board of Education.

The officials for the special election are all volunteers who have offered to donate their services for the day.

Martinsburg And Romney Divide Other Honors

KEYSER—Franklin High School won two of four events in the District IX West Virginia Interscholastic Forensic League contest held at Potomac State College here Saturday with nine area schools competing.

Martinsburg and Romney high schools had one winner each. The Franklin debating team comprised of Miss Patricia Wheaton, a junior, and Miss Dorothy Dolly, a sophomore, walked away with first honors. Miss Wheaton is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wheaton of Upper Tract, and Miss Dolly is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce Dolly, Franklin.

Miss Ruth Keister, a senior at Franklin High School, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Keister of Upper Tract, was awarded first place honors in the oration contest. It was a second time Miss Keister had won this honor for her school and for herself. Two years ago in a District Forensic meet, she also took first honors and went to state competition.

Daniel L. Greene, son of Mrs. Bessie P. Greene, Romney, won first place in the extemporaneous speech division. He is a senior at Romney High School.

For interpretation of prose literature, Miss Carolyn Miller, a junior at Martinsburg High School, was awarded first place. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harley Miller of Martinsburg.

Each of these students won a two-year scholarship to Potomac State College and will also represent the district at the state finals at West Virginia University April 1, 2 and 3. If one or more of them wins the state contests, the winners will receive a four-year scholarship at the University. The two-year state college scholarship will then go to the second place winner in Saturday's contest.

Second Place winners include: DEBATE—Miss Shirley Snider, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Snider, RFD 2, Keyser; and Richard Ball, a senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ball, E. Street, Keyser. This team represented Keyser High School.

ORATION—Miss Carolyn Grapes, a senior at Romney High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Grapes, Romney. Since the first-place winner, Miss Keister, already has a scholarship to Potomac State won two years ago in the District contest, this year's scholarship for oration goes to Miss Grapes. Miss Keister will represent the district and compete for the university scholarship.

INTERPRETATION—George Wilson, Keyser High School senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wilson of Burlington.

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH —Miss Ida Frances Ward, a Keyser High School senior and daughter of Mrs. Thomas Ward, 289 South Mineral Street, Keyser.

A Common Interest In The Parkway

For the last few days, even weeks, the most favorable kind of publicity has been focused on Cumberland, not from strictly a local or regional viewpoint, but nationally.

This spotlight has included nationwide picture and news coverage by the press services, radio, television and movies. It was occasioned, of course, by the now celebrated hike to Washington over the route of the old C&O Canal by a party headed by Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Not only have the hikers left Cumberland with a good feeling about our community, but certainly their visit here, even aside from the national attention paid our city, will pay other good returns.

Conversations, good-natured repartee and discussion have led virtually all to believe that the proponents of the construction of a restricted parkway over the canal route and the hiking group who objected to it are pretty nearly on common ground.

Both have in mind the conservation of the scenic beauty of the area and at the same time making its splendors available, as Justice Douglas said, "to tens of thousands" of people.

Justice Douglas, a world traveler of note, commented there is no more beautiful terrain anywhere than in the Potomac Valley. Men from as far away as Wyoming came here to join in the hike and enjoy this wondrous spot of nature.

As one hiker, a conservationist, put it, he was glad he came to Cumberland to learn our viewpoint, to broaden his outlook on the parkway project and to learn that we, too, are interested in preserving this canal route and making it accessible for recreation purposes.

We had the feeling as the hikers left that the great majority of them are not too strenuously opposed to the type of parkway that has been projected. We sincerely hope that before too long, many of these men, now walking to Washington, will have the opportunity to ride to the Capital over the same route they are now traversing.

These Days

The McCloy Decision

In the argument as to whether John J. McCloy signed the directive dated December 30, 1944, on the subject, "Disposition of Subversive and Disaffected Military Personnel," the answer is that it was signed by Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlop, acting adjutant general. The essence of this directive is:

"... No action will be taken under the reference letter that is predicated on membership in or adherence to the doctrines of the Communist party unless there is a specific finding that the individual involved has a loyalty to the Communist party as an organization which overrides his loyalty to the United States. No such finding should be based on the mere fact that the individual's views on various social questions have been the same as the views which the Communist party may have advanced."

However, John J. McCloy, then assistant secretary of war, testified before the House Special Committee of the Committee on Military Affairs on February 27, 1945, as follows:

"So, General Bissell and I talked the matter over, and I talked it over in one of the war council meetings, at which the chief of staff, the secretary of war and the representatives of each of the staff bureaus meet once a week, and we generally came to the conclusion reflected in the December 30 letter. We worked over the language pretty carefully in the light of our experience and tried to produce something we thought was practicable and sensible."

"I was responsible as much as anyone. I would say Gen. Bissell and I were jointly involved in it. The actual language was arrived at between us."

The question arises how such an order ever came to be issued. John J. McCloy, now chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, stated:

"... The matter arose entirely within the War Department. There were inquiries, as I say, from Congress and there were letters transmitted to us, not only from Congress but from other agencies of the government, including the White House, concerning these complaints—from all the various letter boxes to which soldiers write from time to time."

Again, when questioned, Mr. McCloy accepted War Department responsibility, as the following colloquy shows:

"Mr. Thomason: Did I understand you to say, Mr. Secretary, in answer to Mr. Elston, that the War Department is solely and exclusively responsible for this directive?"

"Mr. McCloy: Yes, sir."
"Mr. Thomason: And that no outside organization or no government agency or any person in high authority in any government agency either suggested or requested it?"
"Mr. McCloy: No."

As to the charges recently made that John J. McCloy or someone else ordered men's records destroyed, McCloy's denial was complete in the 1945 hearing. This was confirmed in the same investigation by Gen. Clayton Bissell who, at that time, was head of G-2 (Intelligence).

At this hearing, Gen. Bissell gave this information: "Gen. Bissell: We have had approximately 100,000 investigations of all types, and of those about 2,500 have related to alleged Communists."

"Mr. Thomason: How many of them have been discharged?"

"Gen. Bissell: Of alleged Communists, we have discharged two."

In this investigation, Gen. Bissell said: "... It revolves around the definition of a Communist. It is not clear, I wish it were clearer. I wish we had a clearer expression of what a Communist is..."

Perhaps in this one citation lies all our difficulties. By 1945, when this investigation was held, the literature on communism, defining the subject, was enormous, beginning with the Communist Manifesto of 1848, running through the writings of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Plekhanov, Bukharin, Stalin and a host of others in many countries. The literature is positive and understandable. Gen. Bissell is an intelligent man; it is difficult to believe that he would not be familiar with this literature.

The transcript of the record of the 1945 hearing is bulky and I can quote no more from it here. I wish to assure the reader that I have scrupulously avoided anything out of context.

How Are Things Out In The Waiting Room?

Secretary Dulles' Popularity Grows Steadily In U. S.

Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has now completed some 90,000 miles of air travel in the interests of American foreign policy. Before he takes off for Geneva and what may be the make-or-break point in his career as secretary of state, it may be worth taking a look at his political base at home.

American foreign policy, as Dean Acheson learned to his sorrow, is not made in a political vacuum. No matter how brilliant his diplomacy may be, a secretary of state is doomed to frustration and paralysis if he lacks a secure home base. Dulles realized this from the first, and immediately set out to strengthen his domestic position. He has scored, at best, only a partial success.

How incomplete his success has been is suggested by the rather sad story of Dulles' home-coming from the Berlin conference. Dulles returned from Berlin convinced that he had scored a historic diplomatic success.

Had he not exposed the real nature of Soviet policy to all Europe and the world? Had he not strengthened the Western Alliance? Had he not forced Molotov to agree to the conference on the Far East essentially on American terms? On the plane, Dulles even speculated that the Republicans might make the success of his foreign policy a major claim in the fall political campaign.

Dismayed by Reception
He returned to find that the Republican Senate majority leader, William Knowland, had already written and released a speech full of implied criticism of his conduct. When he briefed the Senate leaders on the Berlin meeting, only Sen. Alexander Wiley among the Republicans congratulated him. The others clearly suspected that he intended to recognize Communist China on the sly at Geneva.

Dulles was genuinely hurt and dismayed by his reception. "They can't seem to get it out of their heads," he is reported to have remarked, "that I'm really Dean Acheson in disguise." But the fact is that, from the very first, a large and powerful group within his own party has viewed Dulles with acid suspicion.

This group is largely found among the "Taft men" who identify Dulles with the "Dewey wing," despite the fact that he was friendly with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Republican suspicion of Dulles was fed initially by his backing for Charles E. Bohlen, and even more by his failure to put a "Republican team" in the State Department.

This last complaint has been strongly echoed by Republican Chairman Len Hall. Hall apparently shared the view that Dulles should fire all those who ever worked for a Democratic administration, including the professional foreign service officer, and replace them with certified Republicans.

In trying to deal with Republican suspicion and complaints, Dulles has gone through two phases. The first was the appeasement phase, marked, for example, by the appointment of W. Scott McLeod as security chief, and by repeated backdowns before Sen. Joseph R.

McCarthy. As Dulles soon became aware, appeasement, while having an absolutely disastrous effect within the State Department, weakened rather than strengthened his position on Capitol Hill.

Has Eisenhower's Support

The second phase began with Dulles' eloquent reply to McCarthy's "perfumed notes" speech. Since then, Dulles has done everything possible to restore confidence within the State Department—he has clipped McLeod's wings, for example, and the odds apparently are heavy that he will also invite the wrath of McCarthy and Company by clearing John Paton Davies.

Dulles has no intention of picking a fight with the right-wing Republicans. But especially since his return from Berlin he has clearly made up his mind to go his own way and let the chips fall where they may. In this course, he has one main source of political strength.

This is, of course, the backing of President Eisenhower. Acheson, to be sure, had the full backing of President Truman, but Truman obviously had nothing like the political power and popularity of Eisenhower. Moreover, the President is clearly determined to use this power and popularity to shore up the Dulles home base. The President has repeatedly gone out of his way to praise Dulles, and the glowing tribute to Dulles in Vice President Nixon's recent television speech was reportedly inserted at the President's suggestion.

The fact is that Dulles has learned that it is no use trying to appease a certain kind of Republican. For to this kind of Republican, any secretary of state is suspect, since secretaries of state make foreign policy, and foreign policy is a bad thing. Since he learned this lesson, respect for Dulles in Washington—and even his popularity in the nation, according to the State Department's private polls—has grown steadily.

Gen. Ridgway Draws Line At Further Trimming Of Armed Forces' Budget

It first became known how vigorously Ridgway opposed Army cuts when he excused himself from attending the National Security Council meeting at which the cuts were finally to be decided. "Previous engagement," was Ridgway's excuse. In the end, Secretary of Defense Wilson ordered him to attend.

At this meeting Ridgway reluctantly agreed to the cuts, and his colleagues on the Joint Chiefs of Staff now plead that, since he once agreed, he must go through with the agreement. However, he is sticking to his guns.

Meanwhile the economists in the Eisenhower cabinet point out that the mid-Pacific hydrogen explosion has proved more conclusively than ever that ground forces are outmoded. A hydrogen bomb that can affect fishermen 75 miles away, they point out, could contaminate the city of New York, plus Newark and Elizabeth, N. J., Bridgeport, Conn., and up the Hudson to Poughkeepsie.

NOTE—Admiral Denfeld resigned when Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson insisted on cutting naval strength. However, Denfeld was publicly active in opposing the Defense Department. Ridgway was opposed only in private, has let no word of his position leak outside.

The Air Force is running test airlines to some of its overseas bases in an attempt to prove that it is not only faster, but more economical to supply our overseas forces by air.

The Air Force would like to build a huge merchant marine of the air to rush both troops and supplies to any part of the globe overnight. This would make it unnecessary to keep huge stockpiles overseas.

The Air Force claims also that one of its huge C-132 cargo planes can haul more equipment overseas than a Liberty ship—in the same time that it takes the ship to make a round trip.

German Overtures

Alfred Von Krupp, whose huge munitions works supplied arms to Hitler even before he took over Germany, and who was sentenced to 12 years imprisonment as a Nazi war criminal, has left Essen, Germany, for Nassau and Mexico City.

In the latter country he is slated to confer with President Ruiz-Cortines and Mexican officials about the financing of the new factories, dams, mines or power plants under conditions calculated to cut the ground out from under the U.S.A.

These conditions are:
1. A price paid of 20 per cent down, and the balance to be paid four years after the completion of the factory, dam or project.

2. Krupp will do this without seeking part-German ownership in the enterprise.

3. He will accept payment in any currency, hard or soft, or is even prepared to accept payment in kind.

Krupp's proposals and his tour of Latin America have caused a lot of eyebrow raising among Latin-American diplomats friendly to the United States and even inside the State Department.

"Krupp," remarked one diplomat, "happens to be the product of the Dulles policy of building up Western Germany." Now that Mr. Dulles has helped wash the blood off Mr. Krupp's hands, he lets him go down to Latin America to take our trade away."

NOTE—Krupp already has $160,000,000 in contracts for steel mills in India.

Stock Market And Jobs

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Fla.—You have seen recent newspaper headlines: Stock Market Touches Highest In 25 Years. Yet, when many of you check your list of good stocks owned, you find this is not true as to your portfolio. Now let me tell you the trouble.

Dow-Jones Averages Explained

There are about 1,500 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Of these 1,500, only 65 are taken to prepare the Dow-Jones Averages, so-called. Furthermore, these are divided into three groups: (1) the industrial group containing 30 stocks; (2) the railroad group containing 20 stocks; and (3) the utilities group containing 15 stocks.

As a practical matter, most investors do not bother with the second and third groups. They look at only the industrial group. When the industrial group of 30 stocks goes up, they think the entire market of 1,500 stocks goes up. When this industrial group goes down, they think all the 1,500 have gone down. Hence, the newspaper headlines mentioned above, reporting the market at its "25-year high," really applied only to the industrial group of 30 stocks—not to the real average of the entire market—or probably not to the stocks which you own.

Dow-Jones Barometer Fair?

I answer this very frankly by replying that it is unfair to act on these averages. The truth is: (1) that this industrial group is made up of the top big-company stocks; (2) that banks and trustees—perhaps partly to protect themselves against later suits—prefer to buy, for trusts and pension funds, the stocks of these top companies; (3) that this concentrated buying, with little selling, sends these 30 stocks up above the true market average; and (4) that the buying of mutual funds is a great factor in boosting the Dow Industrial Average.

Let me say something about these mutual funds. They are worthy of careful consideration for small investors. They give wide diversification and honest management. These funds are being sold today by thousands of salesmen who get a commission of about five per cent. When you buy the stock of a mutual fund, your money is probably used to buy the stocks of top industrials. Hence, thousands of salesmen are on the road indirectly selling the stocks of these 30 industrials, for which selling they get five per cent—while the rest of the 1,500 stocks are neglected, for the selling of which they would get only 1/10th of one per cent.

Stock Market And Employment

It is unjust to say that the stock market should be a fair barometer of general business, which determines your employment. The stock market as a whole does represent the composite opinion of the business leaders of the nation. Although this composite opinion may be wrong, it is worthy of careful consideration by every reader of this newspaper.

But the Dow-Jones Industrial Average does not necessarily represent the opinion of leading businessmen as to employment conditions.

Hence, it is very unfair to you for any manufacturer, or his employment manager, to base his opinions and hence his "firing and hiring" program on the Dow-Jones Average. Manufacturers should study the average prices of all the 1,500 stocks, properly adjusted as to volume, and not depend solely on what 30 stocks indicate.

What Is The Present Outlook?

The truth is that the stock market is very confusing to an honest employment manager today. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average indicates one thing; while the entire stock market indicates an opposite thing. Certain good stocks are now abnormally high; while other good stocks are abnormally low. Before you are fired by any employment manager, he should study other factors, rather than look solely at the stock market.

General business fell off during January and February 1954, compared with 1953; but the stock market did not forecast this. Some stocks went up; while others went down. Many stock prices have changed very little in the past six months or even longer. Hence, we all should watch carefully the business of March and April without reference to the stock market. Certainly—except for customary seasonal reasons—I forecast that employment managers will be making a big mistake by firing people at this time.

Get Expert Advice After Swallowing Foreign Object

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A 16-year-old boy fell into a corn crib and, when rescued, he was wheezing and gasping for breath. The young man's mouth and nose were cleared of corn and he was taken to a hospital. The examiners found the lad had inhaled seven whole kernels plus a large husk of corn. Inhaling one object is bad enough but the problem is magnified when several items "go the wrong way."

In a group of 859 cases that were rushed to Dr. Paul H. Hollinger of Chicago, over a period of 17 years, with foreign bodies in the air and food passages, 76 were found to harbor multiple intruders. A 2½-year-old girl swallowed four open safety pins and two uniform buttons, one with the stud attached. All came to rest in the upper part of the esophagus (gullet). Another youngster was thought to have swallowed a penny but when X-rays were taken from the side, they revealed she had gulped three cents. An infant was chewing a strand of beads when the string broke; two beads became lodged in the windpipe and the rest were swallowed.

An analysis of all cases determined that peanuts, pennies, and safety pins were the most common articles that stuck in the air and food channels of children, whereas adults had difficulty with fish, chicken, and steak bones as well as dental plates and bridges.

Carelessness on the part of the parents played a major role in the mishaps in youngsters. Leaving potential trouble makers within reach was not as serious a mistake as how they were left. Most closed safety pins pass through the gastrointestinal tract, but open safety pins must be removed by a physician. Carelessness enters the picture when mother or dad forgets to close the pins before putting them away.

Adults get into this trouble when they are intoxicated, anesthetized, or unconscious. It is at this time that a loose tooth or an insecure partial denture may be swallowed or inhaled. The denture also plays a different role; fish or chicken bones are swallowed by mistake because the person with artificial uppers and lowers is unable to feel the speicle in the mouth.

Psychopathic and abnormal personalities have accidents along this line also. An unusual example cited by Dr. Hollinger was a man who attempted to commit suicide by swallowing a razor blade. His mental status came to the rescue, however, because he wrapped the blade in tissue paper to avoid cutting himself.

Whenever a peanut, marble, or "fishbone" goes the wrong way, the victim experiences a violent coughing and gagging spell. If nothing is done and the foreign body becomes fixed in the windpipe, symptoms subside and the treacherous, quiet period begins in which the person thinks all is well. But the armistice is temporary as symptoms return when the object begins to irritate the lining of the membrane. At any rate, expert advice should be sought at once because most foreign bodies are easy to remove shortly after they are swallowed.

TOMORROW. Benign and malignant bone tumors.

SPURS ON VERTEBRAE

N. W. writes: X-rays of my spine show hooks on the bones. Is this arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, but this type of arthritis comes with age and looks worse under X-rays than it actually is. Nine out of 10 persons with this trouble do not experience marked stiffness or deformities usually associated with arthritis.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Common Interest In The Parkway

For the last few days, even weeks, the most favorable kind of publicity has been focused on Cumberland, not from strictly a local or regional viewpoint, but nationally.

This spotlight has included nationwide picture and news coverage by the press services, radio, television and movies. It was occasioned, of course, by the now celebrated hike to Washington over the route of the old C&O Canal by a party headed by Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Not only have the hikers left Cumberland with a good feeling about our community, but certainly their visit here, even aside from the national attention paid our city, will pay other good returns.

Conversations, good-natured repartee and discussion have led virtually all to believe that the proponents of the construction of a restricted parkway over the canal route and the hiking group who objected to it are pretty nearly on common ground.

Both have in mind the conservation of the scenic beauty of the area and at the same time making its splendors available, as Justice Douglas said, "to tens of thousands" of people.

Justice Douglas, a world traveler of note, commented there is no more beautiful terrain anywhere than in the Potomac Valley. Men from as far away as Wyoming came here to join in the hike and enjoy this wondrous spot of nature.

As one hiker, a conservationist, put it, he was glad he came to Cumberland to learn our viewpoint, to broaden his outlook on the parkway project and to learn that we, too, are interested in preserving this canal route and making it accessible for recreation purposes.

We had the feeling as the hikers left that the great majority of them are not too strenuously opposed to the type of parkway that has been projected. We sincerely hope that before too long, many of these men, now walking to Washington, will have the opportunity to ride to the Capital over the same route they are now traversing.

The McCloy Decision

In the argument as to whether John J. McCloy signed the directive dated December 30, 1944, on the subject, "Disposition of Subversive and Disaffected Military Personnel," the answer is that it was signed by Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlop, acting adjutant general. The essence of this directive is:

"... No action will be taken under the reference letter that is predicated on membership in or adherence to the doctrines of the Communist party unless there is a specific finding that the individual involved has a loyalty to the Communist party as an organization which overrides his loyalty to the United States. No such finding should be based on the mere fact that the individual's views on various social questions have been the same as the views which the Communist party may have advanced..."

However, John J. McCloy, then assistant secretary of war, testified before the House Special Committee of the Committee on Military Affairs on February 27, 1945, as follows:

"So, General Bissell and I talked the matter over, and I talked it over in one of the war council meetings, at which the chief of staff, the secretary of war and the representatives of each of the staff bureaus met once a week, and we generally came to the conclusion reflected in the December 30 letter. We worked over the language pretty carefully in the light of our experience and tried to produce something we thought was practicable and sensible."

"I was responsible as much as anyone. I would say Gen. Bissell and I were jointly involved in it. The actual language was arrived at between us."

The question arises how such an order ever came to be issued. John J. McCloy, now chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, stated:

"... The matter arose entirely within the War Department. There were inquiries, as I say, from Congress and there were letters transmitted to us, not only from Congress but from other agencies of the government, including the White House, concerning these complaints—from all the various letter boxes to which soldiers write from time to time..."

Again, when questioned, Mr. McCloy accepted War Department responsibility, as the following colloquy shows:

"Mr. Thomason: Did I understand you to say, Mr. Secretary, in answer to Mr. Elston, that the War Department is solely and exclusively responsible for this directive?"

"Mr. McCloy: Yes, sir."
"Mr. Thomason: And that no outside organization or no government agency or any person in high authority in any government agency either suggested or requested it?"

"Mr. McCloy: No."
As to the charges recently made that John J. McCloy or someone else ordered men's records destroyed, McCloy's denial was complete in the 1945 hearing. This was confirmed in the same investigation by Gen. Clayton Bissell who, at that time, was head of G-2 (Intelligence).

At this hearing, Gen. Bissell gave this information: "Gen. Bissell: We have had approximately 100,000 investigations of all types, and of those about 2,500 have related to alleged Communists."

"Mr. Thomason: How many of them have been discharged?"

"Gen. Bissell: Of alleged Communists, we have discharged two."

In this investigation, Gen. Bissell said: "... It revolves around the definition of a Communist. It is not clear. I wish it were clearer. I wish we had a clearer expression of what a Communist is..."

Perhaps in this one citation lies all our difficulties. By 1945, when this investigation was held, the literature on communism, defining the subject, was enormous, beginning with the Communist Manifesto of 1848, running through the writings of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Plekhanov, Bukharin, Stalin and a host of others in many countries. The literature is positive and understandable. Gen. Bissell is an intelligent man; it is difficult to believe that he would not be familiar with this literature.

The transcript of the record of the 1945 hearing is bulky and I can quote no more from it here. I wish to assure the reader that I have scrupulously avoided anything out of context.

How Are Things Out In The Waiting Room?

Secretary Dulles' Popularity Grows Steadily In U. S.

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has now completed some 90,000 miles of air travel in the interests of American foreign policy. Before he takes off for Geneva and what may be the make-or-break point in his career as secretary of state, it may be worth taking a look at his political base at home.

American foreign policy, as Dean Acheson learned to his sorrow, is not made in a political vacuum. No matter how brilliant his diplomacy may be, a secretary of state is doomed to frustration and paralysis if he lacks a secure home base. Dulles realized this from the first, and immediately set out to strengthen his domestic position. He has scored, at best, only a partial success.

How incomplete his success has been is suggested by the rather sad story of Dulles' homecoming from the Berlin conference. Dulles returned from Berlin convinced that he had scored a historic diplomatic success.

Had he not exposed the real nature of Soviet policy to all Europe and the world? Had he not strengthened the Western Alliance? Had he not forced Molotov to agree to the conference on the Far East essentially on American terms? On the plane, Dulles even speculated that the Republicans might make the success of his foreign policy a major claim in the fall political campaign.

Dismayed By Reception

He returned to find that the Republican Senate majority leader, William Knowland, had already written and released a speech full of implied criticism of his conduct. When he briefed the Senate leaders on the Berlin meeting, only Sen. Alexander Wiley among the Republicans congratulated him. The others clearly suspected that he intended to recognize Communist China on the sly at Geneva.

Dulles was genuinely hurt and dismayed by his reception. "They can't seem to get it out of their heads," he is reported to have remarked, "that I'm really Dean Acheson in disguise." But the fact is that, from the very first, a large and powerful group within his own party has viewed Dulles with acid suspicion.

Manufacturers should study the average prices of all the 1,500 stocks, properly adjusted as to volume, and not depend solely on what 30 stocks indicate.

What Is The Present Outlook?

The truth is that the stock market is very confusing to an honest employment manager today. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average indicates one thing; while the entire stock market indicates an opposite thing. Certain good stocks are now abnormally high; while other good stocks are abnormally low. Before you are fired by any employment manager, he should study other factors, rather than look solely at the stock market.

General business fell off during January and February 1954, compared with 1953; but the stock market did not forecast this. Some stocks went up; while others went down. Many stock prices have changed very little in the past six months or even longer. Hence, we all should watch carefully the business of March and April without reference to the stock market. Certainly—except for customary seasonal reasons—I forecast that employment managers will be making a big mistake by firing people at this time.

Get Expert Advice After Swallowing Foreign Object

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A 16-year-old boy fell into a corn crib and, when rescued, he was wheezing and gasping for breath. The young man's mouth and nose were cleared of corn and he was taken to a hospital. The examiners found the lad had inhaled seven whole kernels plus a large husk of corn. Inhaling one object is bad enough but the problem is magnified when several items "go the wrong way."

In a group of 859 cases that were rushed to Dr. Paul H. Hollinger of Chicago, over a period of 17 years, with foreign bodies in the air and food passages, 76 were found to harbor multiple intruders. A 21/2-year-old girl swallowed four open safety pins and two uniform buttons, one with the stud attached. All came to rest in the upper part of the esophagus (gullet). Another youngster was thought to have swallowed a penny but when X-rays were taken from the side, they revealed she had gulped three cents. An infant was chewing a strand of beads when the string broke; two beads became lodged in the windpipe and the rest were swallowed.

An analysis of all cases determined that peanuts, pennies, and safety pins were the most common articles that stuck in the air and food channels of children, whereas adults had difficulty with fish, chicken, and steak bones as well as dental plates and bridges.

Carelessness on the part of the parents played a major role in the mishaps in youngsters. Leaving potential trouble makers within reach was not as serious a mistake as how they were left. Most closed safety pins pass through the gastrointestinal tract, but open safety pins must be removed by a physician. Carelessness enters the picture when mother or dad forgets to close the pins before putting them away.

Adults get into this trouble when they are intoxicated, anesthetized, or unconscious. It is at this time that a loose tooth or an insecure partial denture may be swallowed or inhaled. The denture also plays a different role; fish or chicken bones are swallowed by mistake because the person with artificial uppers and lowers is unable to feel the spicule in the mouth.

Psychopathic and abnormal personalities have accidents along this line also. An unusual example cited by Dr. Hollinger was a man who attempted to commit suicide by swallowing a razor blade. His mental status came to the rescue, however, because he wrapped the blade in tissue paper to avoid cutting himself.

Whenever a peanut, marble, or "fishbone" goes the wrong way, the victim experiences a violent coughing and gagging spell. If nothing is done and the foreign body becomes fixed in the windpipe, symptoms subside and the treacherous, quiet period begins in which the person thinks all is well. But the armistice is temporary as symptoms return when the object begins to irritate the lining of the membrane. At any rate, expert advice should be sought at once because most foreign bodies are easy to remove shortly after they are swallowed.

Yes, but this type of arthritis comes with age and looks worse under X-rays than it actually is. Nine out of 10 persons with this trouble do not experience marked stiffness or deformities usually associated with arthritis.

New York Giants Tounce Tribe, 9-1

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Three-run homers by rookie second baseman Foster Castleman in the eighth inning and third baseman Henry Thompson in the ninth led the New York Giants to a 9-1 exhibition victory over the Cleveland Indians at Wrigley Field today.

Both clubs were made at the expense of Art Houtteman, last of three Tribe pitchers used by Manager Al Lopez.

In the fifth, the National Leaguers tallied twice on three walks by Mike Garcia, Bill Taylor's infield hit and a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays. Then came the two homers to put the game far beyond the Indians' reach.

Mayer And Bolt Capture Florida Four Ball Title

Beat Boros, Harrison In Sudden Death Test

MIAMI, BEACH, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Dick Mayer was steady as a rock under pressure today as he sank an 18-foot putt on the first hole of a "sudden death" playoff to win the $15,000 International Four Ball Golf Tournament for himself and his partner, Tommy Bolt.

Mayer, the slender St. Petersburg, Fla., pro and Bolt, the temperamental Texan from Houston, finished the last 18-hole round in a first place tie with Julius Boros of Mid Penn, N.C., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Boros and Harrison had climbed out of third place into a tie for the lead with a last round score of 63, nine under par for the Normandy Shores course. Mayer and Bolt took 65 and the two teams each posted a best ball score of 258 for the 72 holes, 30 under par.

Sam Sneed, the West Virginia slammer, and Jim Ferrier, the tall Australian from San Francisco, made an exciting last round bid with a 62 that lifted them from 11th place into a tie for third at 259.

On the first hole of the playoff, all four golfers hit the green with their second shots. Boros was 30 feet from the cup, Harrison 25 feet, Mayer 18 feet and Bolt just six feet away.

Boros, the stocky former National Open champion, brought a roar from the gallery when he hung his ball on the lip of the cup. Harrison was two feet short with his shot.

Then Mayer stepped up and calmly ran down his putt for a birdie three that won the $3,000 top prize for he and Bolt and relieved Tommy of the necessity of trying for his comparatively easy birdie.

Second place money of $2,100 went to Boros and Harrison, while Ferrier and Sneed cashed in for $1,233.33.

Jerry Snyder, running for the lame-legged Busby, went all the way to third base on a wild pitch and scored after Pete Runnels flied to Don Lund in left. Roy Sievers' single and a walk to Mickey Vernon brought on Marlowe, who walked Vollmer on five pitches.

LaSalle Heads Home With Pot Of Gold Found In Kansas City

10,500 See Explorers Beat Bradley Braves In NCAA Final, 92-76

By BEN PHLEGAR

KANSAS CITY, March 21 (AP)—LaSalle's reluctant Explorers, who would have preferred to seek their fortune in New York, headed back to their Philadelphia home today with the pot of gold they found at the end of the NCAA basketball rainbow.

The Explorers won the National Collegiate title in their first try last night with a record smashing 92-76 triumph over the Bradley Braves of Peoria, Ill.

Sweet Five Games

Success came the hard way for Coach Ken Loeffler's team which survived an overtime battle in the first round to become the third East Coast winner in the 16 year history of the NCAA Tournament. Holy Cross in 1947 and City College of New York in 1950 were the only previous champions from the Atlantic area.

LaSalle had to play four games to reach the finals, beating Fordham, North Carolina State, Navy and Penn State before facing Bradley.

Gola Unanimous Choice

The Explorers put on a tremendous team display for the capacity house of 10,500 but head and shoulders above the rest was All-America Tom Gola.

The 6-7 wonder boy, who puts a cat to shame with his grace and speed, was chosen as the tournament's most valuable player. He was also the only unanimous choice for the all-tournament team. Gola's needle-threading passes, rebounding and quarterbacking sent coaches and fans searching their memories in efforts to class him as "the best since..."

Gola picked up his fourth foul before the middle of the third quarter. He fouled out with two minutes to play after scoring 19 points.

A pair of sophomore hotshots, Charlie Singley and Frank Blatchner, provided Gola with a lot of scoring help. Both got 23 points.

92 Points Is New High

LaSalle's 92 point total was a record for a championship game and equalled the all time high in NCAA competition. The 168 point two-team total was also a record. Penn State completed the East's triumph by taking third place from Southern California 70-61.

The winners will meet tomorrow to decide the championship.

Correlation's Odds Reduced To 10 To 1 For Kentucky Derby

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 21 (INS)—Betting odds on Correlation, upset winner of yesterday's Florida Derby, were reduced to 10 to 1 today in the Agua Caliente winter book for the Kentucky Derby.

Correlation had been posted at 20 to 1 before its Florida victory.

Big Crest, third place finisher to Correlation, was lowered from 30 to 1 to 15 to 1. Goyamo, which finished second, was listed at odds of 10 to 1.

Lofgran Admits He Cashed $200 In Bum Checks

Former College Star Gives Up To Police

OAKLAND, Calif., March 21 (INS)—Don Lofgran, former University of San Francisco star basketball player, turned himself in to Oakland police today and admitted passing some $200 in worthless checks.

Lofgran, 25, who underwent mental treatment after disappearing for several weeks after the close of the 1953 professional basketball season, told police he had been "living high" since he returned to his Oakland home two months ago. Police quoted him as saying:

"I cashed at least $200 worth of bum checks and I've been getting in deeper and deeper. I've been thinking it over. I decided to get it all cleaned up and make restitution if I can."

Lofgran was the star of the USF team which won the National Invitational Basketball Tournament in 1949. He was chosen most valuable player at the tourney.

He entered professional basketball after graduating from USF and at the close of the 1953 season, disappeared mysteriously from his Wayne, N. J., home. He was found May 19 of that year wandering the streets of Salt Lake City. He was taken to the Green River, Wyo., home of his wife's parents, and his father-in-law, a doctor, placed him under the care of the superintendent of the state hospital for psychiatric treatment.

He has been recuperating since then, and did not play basketball this past season. He recently had been living at the Oakland home of his parents.

Lofgran was booked for investigation and jailed without bail.

"Y" Tourney Resumes At 6:30 Tonight

Four Games Listed On 5th Day's Card

Eight of the 16 survivors out of an original field of 32 teams that started play a week ago are scheduled to swing into action tonight on the "Y" court in the ninth annual basketball tournament being held under the auspices of the Central YMCA and the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

One game is scheduled in each of the four classes, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

The opener brings together the Sports Shoppe and Sweitzer's Restaurant of the 115-pound class. The winner plays the victor of Tuesday's game between McIntyre's Little Five and Cumberland Electric Company in Thursday night's final.

Romig Drug Store of Keyser, which drew an opening round bye, tackles Bowser's Boys at 7:30 tonight and the team emerging victorious faces the Spot Confectionery in a 135-pound semi-final Tuesday night. Columbia Cash Grocery already has advanced to the finals in this class.

Cliff Fearer's Stoops' Restaurant of Frostburg, composed of Beall High School players, will oppose the Cut Rate Shoe Store, which drew an opening round bye, in the third game on tonight's card at 8:30. The winner moves into the final round where the victor in Tuesday night's game between Hout Construction and Norm's Raiders, a LaSalle High aggregation, will be met Thursday night in the junior unlimited class final.

Concluding tonight's program will be the Senior Unlimited quarter-final between Yoder's Plumbers, a Keyser aggregation, and the Valley Cheese Company, of Moorefield, at 9:30 o'clock. The victor will face Ridgeley Legion in the semi-finals Tuesday night. Sisk's Gulfers have beaten the Amvets and Beightol's Bouncers to forge to the finals in this class.

Four games are on tap Tuesday night and four championship games on Thursday.

Syracuse Sweeps Series With Knicks

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals waited until the last three minutes to let loose and then went on to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 103-99 in a "mean nothing" National Basketball Assn. playoff game at Madison Square Garden today.

The Nats already had gained the semi-final round of the playoffs so a crowd of only 2,539 turned out for the contest. However, even though they won, the Nats found little consolation because Earl Lloyd, one of the top rebound artists of the league, suffered a broken bone in his right hand late in the second quarter. He will be out the rest of the playoffs.

Syracuse's playoff record now is 3-0 while Boston has a 2-1 mark. The teams meet in Syracuse tomorrow and then tangle in the best-of-three series, regardless of the outcome, for the right to meet the Western Division winner, New York lost all four games in the round-robin.

Taken By Death

ROY M. HAWLEY

Roy M. (Legs) Hawley, 53, director of athletics at West Virginia University, died Saturday in Pittsburgh's West Penn Hospital.

Hawley, who headed the department since 1938, had been under treatment at the hospital since suffering a heart attack two weeks ago. Roy was chairman of the committee on public relations for the Southern Conference at the time of his death.

A native of Bluefield, W. Va., Hawley set a state high school scoring record of 66 points (Bluefield vs. Williamson, 1918). "Legs" was a member of the 1924 West Virginia University quint that won 14 of 16 games under Francis Stadsvald. He was a baseball catcher and captained the 1926 Mountaineer nine.

Hawley was appointed director of athletics at Marshall College in 1926, coached the baseball team there for three years and won as many Buckeye Conference championships. In 1935 he returned to the University as alumni secretary and three years later was appointed director of athletics.

In all his association with University athletics, Hawley got his biggest thrill when the Mountaineers won the National Invitation Tournament in 1942. His biggest personal thrill came in 1950 when the West Virginia Sports Writers Association presented him with a plaque in appreciation of his services for them as well as the University and the state.

Hawley married Miss Helen Arminda Post of Masontown in 1927. His widow and one son, Bill, 14, survive.

But the Reds got that run back and another in the second when Jim Greengrass homered in the second.

Smalley Goes To Milwaukee For Dave Cole

Shortstop With Cubs Since 1948 Is Traded For Hurler And Cash

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Mar. 21 (INS)—The Milwaukee Braves announced today that they had obtained Shortstop Roy Smalley from the Chicago Cubs for right-handed pitcher Dave Cole and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The deal was consummated by Braves General Manager John Quinn at Bradenton, Fla.

Smalley, 28, has been with the club since 1948 without ever developing into the star shortstop which his potentialities at one time indicated he might be.

He had his best year in 1950 when he hit 21 homers and drove in 85 runs. Injuries have hampered him in several seasons. Last year, Smalley hit 249.

Cole, 23, is a young pitcher who appeared in 19 games with the Braves last year. He had a record of no wins and one defeat.

Dave Cole hails from Williams-port, Md., and first attracted attention of major league scouts as a pitcher in American Legion junior baseball with Morris Frock Post at Hagerstown.

Coney, Barrelville Join Pony Circuit

KEYSER, W. Va., March 21 (AP)—The Bi-State Pony Baseball League is assured five starting teams with the admission of Lonaconing and Barrelville at a meeting held last week in Midland.

A team from either Westernport or Keyser is sought to complete the circuit.

Al Thomas represented Keyser at the meeting and doubted whether Keyser will be in the league because the Recreation Board has decided the community had all the baseball it could sponsor. Thomas, however, said he was making an effort to get a sponsor from persons he knows are interested.

The next meeting of the league will be held in Midland April 15 at 7:30 p. m. Franchise fees of $20 must be posted at that time.

The five other teams posting franchise fees of $125 each at yesterday's session were Moorefield, Romney, Frostburg, Westvaco and the Cumberland Old Germans.

Teams of the All-States loop will play a schedule of 25 games each, 19 Sundays, four Saturdays and two holidays, namely, May 30 and July 4. The season will get under way Sunday, April 25 and will close on Sunday, August 29. New York Giants Trounce Tribe, 9-1

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Three-run homers by rookie second baseman Foster Caserman in the eighth inning and third baseman Henry Thompson in the ninth led the New York Giants to a 9-1 exhibition victory over the Cleveland Indians at Wrigley Field today.

Both clubs were made at the expense of Art Houtteman, last of three Tribe pitchers used by Manager Al Lopez.

In the fifth, the National Leaguers tallied twice on three walks by Mike Garcia, Bill Taylor's infield hit and a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays. Then came the two homers to put the game far beyond the Indians' reach.

Mantle May Not See Action Until May

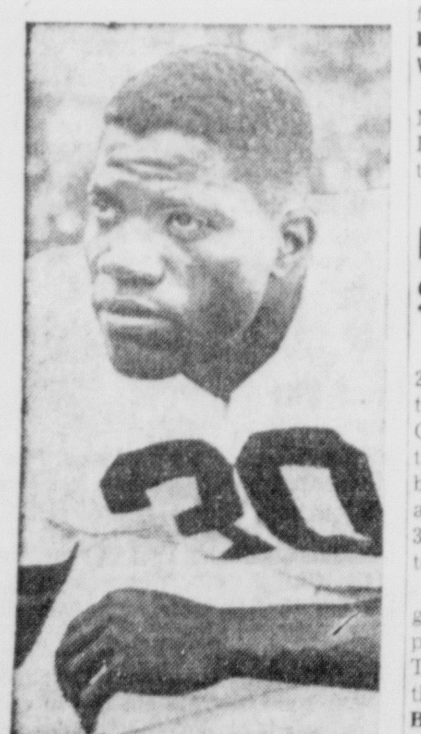

MIAMI, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Mickey Mantle's knee injury definitely will keep him out of action when the baseball season starts and he may not get into the lineup until mid May.

Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins examined Mantle's knee today and said it was coming along nicely but that he should not give it a serious test for the next three weeks.

Mayer And Bolt Capture Florida Four Ball Title

Beat Boros, Harrison In Sudden Death Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Dick Mayer was steady as a rock under pressure today as he sank an 18-foot putt on the first hole of a "sudden death" playoff to win the $15,000 International Four Ball Golf Tournament for himself and his partner, Tommy Bolt.

Mayer, the slender St. Petersburg, Fla., pro and Bolt, the temperamental Texan from Houston, finished the last 18-hole round in a first place tie with Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Boros and Harrison had climbed out of third place into a tie for the lead with a last round score of 63, nine under par for the Normandy Shores course. Mayer and Bolt took 65 and the two teams each posted a best ball score of 258 for the 72 holes, 30 under par.

Sam Snead, the West Virginia slammer, and Jim Ferrier, the tall Australian from San Francisco, made an exciting last round bid with a 62 that lifted them from 11th place into a tie for third at 259. On the first hole of the playoff, all four golfers hit the green with their second shots. Boros was 30 feet from the cup, Harrison 25 feet, Mayer 18 feet and Bolt just six feet away.

Boros, the stocky former National Open champion, brought a roar from the gallery when he hung his ball on the lip of the cup. Harrison was two feet short with his shot. Then Mayer stepped up and calmly ran down his putt for a birdie three that won the $3,000 prize for he and Bolt and relieved Tommy of the necessity of trying for his comparatively easy birdie.

Second place money of $2,100 went to Boros and Harrison, while Ferrier and Snead cashed in for $1,233.33.

Nats Top Detroit, 23 Passes Issued

ORLANDO, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Dick Marlowe walked Clyde Vollmer with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to enable the Washington Senators to defeat Detroit 10-9 today.

The game was marred by 23 bases on balls, 14 issued by four Detroit pitchers.

The Tigers held a 9-8 lead entering the last of the ninth, but, with one out, pinch-hitter Jim Busby singled off Al Aber. Jerry Snyder, running for the lame-legged Busby, went all the way to third base on a wild pitch and scored after Pete Runnels fled to Don Lund in left. Roy Sievers' single and a walk to Mickey Vernon brought on Marlowe, who walked Vollmer on five pitches.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Boston's Red Sox made just two hits off a trio of St. Louis Cardinals pitchers, but took advantage of six walks in two innings by right hander Tom Poholsky and five Redbird errors to gain a 3-2 exhibition victory here today.

Leo Kiely and Truman Clevenger gave up six hits, one an inside-the-park home run by Cardinal rookie Tom Alston, but clamped down in the clutch for the Red Sox.

LaSalle Heads Home With Pot Of Gold Found In Kansas City

10,500 See Explorers Beat Bradley Braves In NCAA Final, 92-76

By BEN PHILEGAR

KANSAS CITY, March 21 (AP)—LaSalle's reluctant Explorers, who would have preferred to seek their fortune in New York, headed back to their Philadelphia home today with the pot of gold they found at the end of the NCAA basketball rainbow.

The Explorers won the National Collegiate title in their first try last night with a record smashing 92-76 triumph over the Bradley Braves of Peoria, Ill.

Sweet Five Games
Success came the hard way for Coach Ken Loeffler's team which survived an overtime battle in the first round to become the third East Coast winner in the 16 year history of the NCAA Tournament. Holy Cross in 1947 and City College of New York in 1950 were the only previous champions from the Atlantic area.

LaSalle had to play four games to reach the finals, beating Fordham, North Carolina State, Navy and Penn State before facing Bradley.

Gola Unanimous Choice
The Explorers put on a tremendous team display for the capacity house of 10,500 but head and shoulders above the rest was All-America Tom Gola.

The 6-7 wonder boy, who puts a cat to shame with his grace and speed, was chosen as the tournament's most valuable player. He was also the only unanimous choice for the all-tournament team. Gola's needle-threading passes, rebounding and quarterbacking sent coaches and fans searching their memories in efforts to class him as "the best since..."

Gola picked up his fourth foul before the middle of the third quarter. He fouled out with two minutes to play after scoring 19 points.

A pair of sophomore hotshots, Charlie Singley and Frank Blatchler, provided Gola with a lot of scoring help. Both got 23 points.

92 Points Is New High
LaSalle's 92 point total was a record for a championship game and equaled the all time high in NCAA competition. The 168 point two-team total was also a record. Penn State completed the East's triumph by taking third place from Southern California 70-61.

The winners will meet tomorrow to decide the championship.

Correlation's Odds Reduced To 10 To 1 For Kentucky Derby

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 21 (INS)—Betting odds on Correlation, upset winner of yesterday's Florida Derby, were reduced to 10 to 1 today in the Agua Caliente winter book for the Kentucky Derby.

Correlation had been posted at 20 to 1 before its Florida victory.

Big Crest, third place finisher to Correlation, was lowered from 30 to 1 to 15 to 1. Goyamo, which finished second, was listed at odds of 10 to 1.

Other odds changes found Turn To, the winter book favorite, trimmed from 3 to 1 to 2 to 1, and Portehouse pared from 4 to 1 to 3 to 1.

Lofgran Admits He Cashed $200 In Bum Checks

Former College Star Gives Up To Police

OAKLAND, Calif., March 21 (INS)—Don Lofgran, former University of San Francisco star basketball player, turned himself in to Oakland police today and admitted passing some $200 in worthless checks.

Lofgran, 25, who underwent mental treatment after disappearing for several weeks after scoring 19 points of the 1953 professional basketball season, told police he had been "living high" since he returned to his Oakland home two months ago. Police quoted him as saying: "I cashed at least $200 worth of bum checks and I've been getting in deeper and deeper. I've been thinking it over, I decided to get it all cleaned up and make restitution if I can."

Lofgran was the star of the USF team which won the National Invitational Basketball Tournament in 1949. He was chosen most valuable player at the tourney.

He entered professional basketball after graduating from USF and at the close of the 1953 season, disappeared mysteriously from his Wayne, N. J., home. He was found May 19 of that year wandering the streets of Salt Lake City. He was taken to the Green River, Wyo., home of his wife's parents, and his father-in-law, a doctor, placed him under the care of the superintendent of the state hospital for psychiatric treatment.

He has been recuperating since then, and did not play basketball this past season. He recently had been living at the Oakland home of his parents.

Lofgran was booked for investigation and jailed without bail.

"Y" Tourney Resumes At 6:30 Tonight

Four Games Listed On 5th Day's Card

Eight of the 16 survivors out of an original field of 32 teams that started play a week ago are scheduled to swing into action tonight on the "Y" court in the ninth annual basketball tournament being held under the auspices of the Central YMCA and the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

One game is scheduled in each of the four classes, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

The opener brings together the Sports Shoppe and Sweitzer's Restaurant of the 115-pound class. The winner plays the victor of Tuesday's game between McIntyre's Little Five and Cumberland Electric Company in Thursday night's final.

Romig Drug Store of Keyser, which drew an opening round bye, tackles Bowser's Boys at 7:30 tonight and the team emerging victorious faces the Spot Confectionery in a 135-pound semi-final Tuesday night. Columbia Cash Grocery already has advanced to the finals in this class.

Cliff Fear's Stoops' Restaurant quint of Frostburg, composed of Beall High School players, will oppose the Cut Rate Shoe Store, which drew an opening round bye, in the third game on tonight's card at 8:30. The winner moves into the final round where the victor in Tuesday night's game between Hout Construction and Norm's Raiders, a LaSalle High aggregation, will be met Thursday night in the junior unlimited class final.

Concluding tonight's program will be the Senior Unlimited quarter-final between Yoder's Plumbers, a Keyser aggregation, and the Valley Cheese Company, of Moorefield, at 9:30 o'clock. The victor will face Ridgeley Legion in the semi-finals Tuesday night. Six's Gulfers have beaten the Amvets and Beight's Bouncers to forge to the finals in this class.

Four games are on tap Tuesday night and four championship games on Thursday.

Syracuse Sweeps Series With Knicks

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals waited until the last three minutes to let loose and then went on to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 103-99 in a "mean nothing" National Basketball Assn. playoff game at Madison Square Garden today.

The Nats already had gained the semi-final round of the playoffs so a crowd of only 2,539 turned out for the contest. However, even though they won, the Nats found little consolation because Earl Lloyd, one of the top rebound artists of the league, suffered a broken bone in his right hand late in the second quarter. He will be out the rest of the playoffs.

Syracuse's playoff record now is 3-0 while Boston has a 2-1. The teams meet in Syracuse tomorrow and then tangle in Cincinnati.

Trucks, Johnson (6); Aloma (8); Lollar, Battey (8); Nuxhall, New York lost all four games in the round-robin.

Taken By Death

ROY M. HAWLEY

Roy M. (Legs) Hawley, 53, director of athletics at West Virginia University, died Saturday in Pittsburgh's West Penn Hospital.

Hawley, who headed the department since 1938, had been under treatment at the hospital since suffering a heart attack two weeks ago. Roy was chairman of the committee on public relations for the Southern Conference at the time of his death.

A native of Bluefield, W. Va., Hawley set a state high school scoring record of 66 points (Bluefield vs. Williamson, 1918). "Legs" was a member of the 1924 West Virginia University quint that won 14 of 16 games under Francis Stadsvald. He was a baseball catcher and captained the 1926 Mountaineer nine.

Hawley was appointed director of athletics at Marshall College in 1926, coached the baseball team there for three years and won as many Buckeye Conference championships. In 1935 he returned to the University as alumni secretary and three years later was appointed director of athletics.

In all his association with University athletics, Hawley got his biggest thrill when the Mountaineers won the National Invitation Tournament in 1942. His biggest personal thrill came in 1950 when the West Virginia Sports Writers Association presented him with a plaque in appreciation of his services for them as well as the University and the state.

Hawley married Miss Helen Arminda Post of Masontown in 1927. His widow and one son, Bill, survive.

Redlegs Post 5-3 Win Over Chisox Rookies

TAMPA, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today turned back a collection of White Sox rookies and reserves in a loosely played exhibition baseball game before 2,250 fans.

One of the White Sox rookies, Cuban Angelo Toledo, initiated the scoring in the first inning with a home run in his first appearance at the plate in organized ball.

But the Reds got that run back and another in the second when Jim Greengrass homered in the mark. The teams meet in Syracuse tomorrow and then tangle in Cincinnati.

Trucks, Johnson (6); Aloma (8); Lollar, Battey (8); Nuxhall, New York lost all four games in the round-robin.

Pax, Beckley Annex State Cage Titles

Piedmont High Loses Final Contest, 63-54

Piedmont High School muffed its opportunity to win the West Virginia Class B scholastic basketball title on Saturday afternoon when its Lions went down to defeat in the finals at the hands of Pax High School of Fayette county at the West Virginia University Field House, Morgantown. The score was 63-54.

Pax won the game in the final period by outscoring the Mineral Countians, 32 to 23, after the teams had battled to a 31-31 deadlock at the close of the third quarter.

The victory was the 16th in a row for Coach Ken Legg's Pax quint which wound up its campaign with 21 victories in 27 outings. Piedmont had won 12 in a row prior to Saturday's finale and concluded its season with 25 triumphs and three defeats.

Stover Gets 26 Points

Don Stover, 6-foot-2 center, sparked the Pax offensive with 26 points on eight field goals and 10-16 fouls. Jerry Phillips banged in 19 points and Larry Trice collected 12. George Campbell, Bobby Niland and Glenn Smith with 13, 12 and 10 led the Piedmont scorers.

Piedmont lost four first stringers on personal fouls. John Jackson made his exit in the third period and was followed by Campbell, Niland and Charley Miller in the final stanza.

Piedmont outscored Pax 19 to 16 in field goals but was outpointed at the free throw line, 31 to 16. Thirty-two personal fouls were plastered on the Lions and only 13 on Pax. The winners had 47 free throws to Piedmont's 23.

Pax led at the quarter, 9-8 and also at intermission, 26-14.

Beckley Cops "A" Title

Beckley's Flying Eagles won the state Class A championship by defeating the Mullens High Rebels in Saturday's finale, 84-66. This game was featured by the shooting of Capt. Dwayne Winger who scored a record 44 points before the crowd of 7,000 fans. Pax High, the Class B champion, is only nine miles from Beckley.

Beckley Stratton also took the state negro scholastic title Saturday by defeating Amigo Byrd, Prillerman, 35-50, in the tournament at Institute.

The losers in both the Class A tourney and the negro tournament finals, incidentally, are in the Beckley neighborhood.

Matt Batts is the regular catcher, but House, who never quite lived up to his $70,000 promise before he went into the service, is being given a good chance.

Hutch calls House a fine defensive player who needs to pick up on his hitting. John Bucha and one of the coaches, Bob Swift, if needed, fill out the other catching ranks.

There are nine outfielders in camp including the second bonus baby, Al Kaline, who has to be kept on the roster for two years. The proven fly-chasers are Jim Delsing, Nieman, Don Lund, the veteran Pat Mullin and Steve Souchock.

Kaline, the speedy youngster from Baltimore who signed for a reported $35,000 bonus after a sensational high school and semi-pro career, got into 30 games for Detroit last year and hit .250.

There are 18 pitchers in camp. Hutch probably will go with Ned Garver, Ted Gray, Billy Hoelt and Steve Gromek as his starters.

GARVER underwent a knee operation during the winter so the former 20-game winner for the Browns should improve on his 11-11 mark with the Tigers last year. Ned says the knee feels fine and he can step down on the leg now where it hurt him to do so before.

Ralph Branca, the hard-luck pitcher with the Brooklyn Dodgers who came to Detroit last year, also is figured on for starting roles.

Among the newcomers is the $60,000 bonus beauty, Bob Miller, 18 years old, who signed with the Tigers last June after a 23-6 record in three seasons of high school ball around Berwyn, Ill.

Other pitching hopefuls are Dick Donovan, 11-8 with Atlanta; Paul Foytack, 13-10 with Buffalo; Milo Johnson, 16-12 with Little Rock; Frank Lary, 17-11 with Buffalo, and Dick Weik and Al Aber, who had little chance to pitch while with Cleveland.

Smalley Goes To Milwaukee For Dave Cole

Shortstop With Cubs Since 1948 Is Traded For Hurler And Cash

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Mar. 21 (INS)—The Milwaukee Braves announced today that they had obtained Shortstop Roy Smalley from the Chicago Cubs for right-handed pitcher Dave Cole and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The deal was consummated by Braves General Manager John Quinn at Bradenton, Fla. Smalley, 28, has been with the club since 1948 without ever developing into the star shortstop which his potentialities at one time indicated he might be.

He had his best year in 1950 when he hit 21 homers and drove in 85 runs. Injuries have hampered him in several seasons. Last year, Smalley hit .249.

Cole, 23, is a young pitcher who appeared in 19 games with the Braves last year. He had a record of no wins and one defeat.

Dave Cole hails from Williamsport, Md., and first attracted attention of major league scouts as a pitcher in American Legion junior baseball with Morris Frock Post at Hagerstown.

Baumholtz Gets Five Hits; Cubs Win, 8-2

YUMA, Ariz., March 21 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs swept a three-game weekend series from the Baltimore Orioles 8-2 today, getting to the American League club's Bob Turley for 7 runs behind the slugging of Frankie Baumholtz.

Baumholtz belted two doubles, three singles and scored three Cub runs for a perfect day at the plate. His two baggers were the only hits off Howie Fox.

Bubba Church pitched the opening five for the National Leaguers, blanking the Orioles on four hits. Bob Zick gave up two safeties through the eighth, one a homer over the right field fence by Dick Kokos. The other Baltimore tally was a ninth-inning pinch homer by Bobby Balena off Jim Willis.

'Coney, Barrelville Join Pony Circuit

KEYSER, W. Va., March 21 (AP)—The Bi-State Pony Baseball League is assured five starting teams with the admission of Lonaconing and Barrelville at a meeting held last week in Midland.

A team from either Westernport or Keyser is sought to complete the circuit.

Al Thomas represented Keyser at the meeting and doubted whether Keyser will be in the league because the Recreation Board has decided the community had all the baseball it could sponsor. Thomas, however, said he was making an effort to get a sponsor from persons he knows are interested.

The next meeting of the league will be held in Midland April 15 at 7:30 p. m. Franchise fees of $20 must be posted at that time.

WASHINGTON'S DEAN STONE

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. — If Darrah Dean Stone makes good as a pitcher with the Washington Senators this year—and Manager Bucky Harris thinks he has a "can't miss" future—we're all going to have to forget his first name and call him just plain "Dean."

"Gosh," he said in an interview in camp here, "I sure wish you would just cross out that name. I certainly don't like it and I didn't think anyone knew about it. I made my mistake one year when I filled out a questionnaire and listed it."

Darrah, or rather, Dean, may not like his first name but he likes his chance at making the major leagues and the Nats' front office, including Manager Harris, do, too.

"He has a fine arm," said Bucky, "and he's coming along. He had a trial with us last summer and while he got into only three games he showed promise."

Dean is the biggest guy on the Nat roster (6 ft. 4½ in.) and one of the hardest-working men in camp. His minor league record is not impressive but he has progressed in the Senators' farm system which he joined after making good in Jack Rossiter's baseball school in Orlando in 1949.

Most impressive item about Dean is his unimpressive minor league record, unimpressive in that he failed to match the sizzling marks of many of the rookie hopefuls who come up for their big chance.

A native of East Moline, Ill., Dean has had five years of minor league seasoning and his combined record stands at 41 victories and 31 losses, not exactly spectacular.

HIS BIGGEST trouble in his first two years was wildness. "If I didn't strike 'em out in those years," Dean confided here, "I walked 'em, I sure was wild."

The record bears him out, too, for with Orlando in 1949 he struck out 134 in 137 innings but he walked 133. The next season he struck out 152 in 145 innings but walked 158.

His best showing prior to his chance with the Senators was with Charlotte in 1952 when he won 17 and lost 10, struck out 201 batters in 221 innings while walking only 122. He had two no-hit games that season and in one game whiffed 16 batters.

DEAN COMES from a big family, which includes four brothers. His father, Lyle Dean, was the only other baseball player in the family. Also a pitcher, he hurled semi-pro ball and had a chance to go with the Chicago Cubs but turned it down.

Unlike most other rookies, Dean wasn't an all-around athlete in high school. He played end on the football team but "only because my brothers played and my dad liked it if I did."

He pitched high school ball and signed with Clinton, La., of the Central association. He was released after training with that club and finally got his break at Rossiter's tryout school.

Yankees Crack Dodgers' Long Winning Streak

Berra, Cerv Wallop
Homers In 8-2 Win

MIAMI, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The two longest Grapefruit League streaks came to an end today when the New York Yankees, after losing seven games in a row, ended Brooklyn's 11-game victory skein 8-2 before 12,469 in Miami Stadium.

Home runs by Yogi Berra and Bob Cerv featured the world champions' 12-hit attack on three Brooklyn pitchers. Meanwhile, Harry Byrd, and Tom Morgan limited the National League pennant winners to six hits.

Erv Palica started for the Dodgers and bore the brunt of the Yankee attack, allowing four runs on six hits.

Billy Loes was socked for four consecutive singles in the seventh and Hamp Coleman gave up two runs on as many hits, including Berra's drive against the scoreboard in the ninth.

The Yankees had two runs before Palica was hardly warmed up. Gene Woodling opened with a single and scored on a double by Gerry Coleman. The latter moved up on a fly by Gil McDougald and tallied on Berra's infield out.

Cerv cleared the left field wall in the second. It was the fifth homer of the spring for Cerv who is making hay while Hank Bauer recuperates from a shoulder injury. A single by Coleman and triple by McDougald in the fifth ended the Yankee attack on Palica.

A pinch double by Wayne Belardi accounted for the first Brooklyn tally off Byrd, who gave up three hits in six innings. He held the Dodgers hitless until the fifth.

Brooklyn 000 010 010—2 6 1

Greenberg Given New 2-Year Pact

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (INS)—President Myron H. Wilson of the Cleveland Indians baseball club today ripped up the contract of General Manager Hank Greenberg, which had one year to run, and awarded the former all-time first baseman a new two-year pact.

Although salary terms were not disclosed, Wilson said Greenberg will receive the same amount of money he was drawing under the former three-year pact.

Greenberg, who starred with the Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates during his baseball playing days, became farm club director for the Indians in 1948 and has been general manager since 1949.

Anybody who couldn't win

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 21 (INS)—The Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox fans soon will discover—if they don't already know it—how much a one-two punch—or the loss thereof—can mean to a ball club.

The Braves have lost Bobby Thomson for an indefinite period with a broken ankle. The Red Sox will be minus Ted Williams indefinitely with a broken collarbone.

We have read any number of optimistic forecasts about both of these slugging outfielders being back in the line-up within six weeks.

But some doctors have told us that either will be lucky to be back with anything near their old form before half the season is gone.

This is particularly true of Thomson whose triple break has been likened to that suffered by Monte Irvin of the Giants and you will recall that Irvin was virtually useless to the Giants for a whole season.

Thomson and Ed Mathews undoubtedly would have been a devastating one-two punch for the Braves just as Williams and George Kell would have been for the Red Sox.

It was Waite Hoyt, then a great pitcher for the Yanks, who first gave us a real insight to the value of a one-two punch. It was one hot day in Chicago in 1927—the year Babe Ruth hit his record 60 homers—and Waite was scheduled to pitch that day against the White Sox.

We sat there on the bench watching Babe Ruth and then Lou Gehrig lose a few in the stands in batting practice and Waite remarked:

"Anybody who couldn't win

with that pair behind him ought to quit playing ball."

When we asked why, he answered: "I wonder if you sports writers realize just what a one-two punch like they've got means to a ball club?"

"The big buy (Ruth) wouldn't mean so much by himself but when you have a guy like Lou coming up next—boy, that's something."

"A pitcher wouldn't mind so much if he had an ordinary hitter coming next after Ruth. He'd just pass the Babe and figure on getting the next guy."

"But if he passes the Babe he's in just as tough a spot because Lou is just as liable to knock his brains out. That's a real mental hazard."

"It's even worse with this club because if the pitcher is too careful and walks Ruth and Gehrig then he's got Tony (Lazzeri) and Bob (Meusel) to face and either of them can hit one out of the lot."

Now with Williams and Thomson out indefinitely, the opposing pitchers will not have to worry as they would if Ted and Bob were in the line-up.

WASHINGTON'S DEAN STONE

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. — If Darrah Dean Stone makes good as a pitcher this year—and Manager Bucky Harris thinks he has a "can't miss" future—we're all going to have to forget his first name and call him just plain "Dean."

"Gosh," he said in an interview in camp here, "I sure wish you would just cross out that name. I certainly don't like it and I didn't think anyone knew about it. I made one mistake one year when I filled out a questionnaire and listed it."

Darrah, or rather, Dean, may not like his first name but he likes his chance at making the major leagues and the Nats' front office, including Manager Harris, do, too. "He has a fine arm," said Bucky. "And he's coming along. He had a trial with us last summer and while he got into only three games he showed promise."

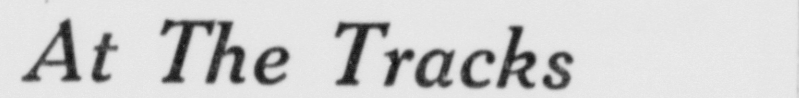

Dean is the biggest guy on the Nat roster 6 ft. 4½ in. and one of the hardest-working men in camp. His minor league record is not impressive but he has progressed in the Senators' farm system which he joined after making good in Jack Rossiter's baseball school in Orlando in 1949.

Most impressive item about Dean is his unimpressive minor league record, unimpressive in that he failed to match the sizzling marks of many of the rookie hopefuls who come up for their big chance.

A native of East Moline, Ill., Dean has had five years of minor league seasoning and his combined record stands at 41 victories and 31 losses, not exactly spectacular.

HIS BIGGEST trouble in his first two years was wildness. "If I didn't strike 'em out in those years," Dean confided here, "I walked 'em. I sure was wild."

The record bears him out, too, for with Orlando in 1949 he struck out 134 in 137 innings but he walked 133. The next season he struck out 152 in 145 innings but walked 158.

His best showing prior to his chance with the Senators was with Charlotte in 1952 when he won 17 and lost 10, struck out 201 batters in 221 innings while walking only 122. He had two no-hit games that season and in one game whiffed 16 batters.

DEAN COMES from a big family, which includes four brothers. His father, Lyle Dean, was the only other baseball player in the family. Also a pitcher, he hurled semi-pro ball and had a chance to go with the Chicago Cubs but turned it down.

Unlike most other rookies, Dean wasn't an all-around athlete in high school. He played end on the football team but "only because my brothers played and my dad liked it if I did."

He pitched high school ball and signed with Clinton, Ia., of the Central association. He was released after training with that club and finally got his break at Rossiter's trout school.

Yankees Crack Dodgers' Long Winning Streak

Berra, Cerv Wallop
Homers In 8-2 Win

MIAMI, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The two longest Grapefruit League streaks came to an end today when the New York Yankees, after losing seven games in a row, ended Brooklyn's 11-game victory skein 8-2 before 12,469 in Miami Stadium.

Home runs by Yogi Berra and Bob Cerv featured the world champions 12-hit attack on three Brooklyn pitchers. Meanwhile, Harry Byrd, and Tom Morgan limited the National League pennant winners to six hits.

Erv Palica started for the Dodgers and bore the brunt of the Yankee attack, allowing four runs on six hits.

Billy Loes was socked for four consecutive singles in the seventh and Hamp Coleman gave up two runs on as many hits, including Berra's drive against the scoreboard in the ninth.

The Yankees had two runs before Palica was hardly warmed up. Gene Woodling opened with a single and scored on a double by Gerry Coleman. The latter moved up on a fly by Gil McDougald and tallied on Berra's infield out.

Cerv cleared the left field wall in the second. It was the fifth homer of the spring for Cerv who is making hay while Hank Bauer recuperates from a shoulder injury. A single by Coleman and triple by McDougald in the fifth ended the Yankee attack on Palica.

A pinch double by Wayne Belardi accounted for the first Brooklyn tally off Byrd, who gave up three hits in six innings. He held the Dodgers hitless until the fifth.

New York (A) 210 010 202—8 12 1 Brooklyn 000 010 010—2 6 1 Byrd, Morgan (7) and Berra; Palica, Loes (6), Coleman (8) and Campanella.

Greenberg Given New 2-Year Pact

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (INS)—President Myron H. Wilson of the Cleveland Indians baseball club today ripped up the contract of General Manager Hank Greenberg, which had one year to run, and awarded the former all-time first baseman a new two-year pact.

Although salary terms were not disclosed, Wilson said Greenberg will receive the same amount of money he was drawing under the former three-year pact.

Greenberg, who starred with the Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates during his baseball playing days, became farm club director for the Indians in 1948 and has been general manager since 1949.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—University of Maryland wins national intercollegiate rifle championship for second consecutive year. Terrapins scored 1437 out of a possible 1500.

University of California, second, and UCLA third. Maryland is first team to defend title successfully since Navy performed the feat in 1935. Ninety colleges and universities participated in the 14 sectional meets.

NEW YORK—Horace Ashenfelter wins 2-mile race at K. of C. Games, defeating fellow G-man Fred Will for the first time in 17 indoor races over a 5-year period. Ashenfelter's time was 8:58.5. Mal Whitfield won the half-mile and 600-yard events and Harrison Dillard took the 60-yard high hurdles. Morgan State copped the mile relay and Fordham was first in the two-mile relay.

Anybody who couldn't win with that pair behind him ought to quit playing ball."

When we asked why, he answered: "I wonder if you sports writers realize just what a one-two punch like they've got means to a ball club?"

"The big buy (Ruth) wouldn't mean so much by himself but when you have a guy like Lou coming up next—boy, that's something."

"A pitcher wouldn't mind so much if he had an ordinary hitter coming next after him. He'd just pass the Babe and figure on getting the next guy."

"But if he passes the Babe he's in just as tough a spot because Lou is just as liable to knock his brains out. That's a real mental hazard."

"It's even worse with this club because if the pitcher is too careful and walks Ruth and Gehrig then he's got Tony (Lazzeri) and Bob (Meusel) to face and either of them can hit one out of the lot."

Now with Williams and Thomson out indefinitely, the opposing pitchers will not have to worry as they would if Ted and Bob were in the line-up.

It was Waite Hoyt, then a great pitcher for the Yanks, who first gave us a real insight to the value of a one-two punch. It was one hot day in Chicago in 1927—the year Babe Ruth hit his record 60 homers—and Waite was scheduled to pitch that day against the White Sox.

We sat there on the bench watching Babe Ruth and then Lou Gehrig lose a few in the stands in batting practice and Waite remarked:

But some doctors have told us that either will be lucky to be back with anything near their old form before half the season is gone.

This is particularly true of Thomson whose triple break has been likened to that suffered by Monte Irvin of the Giants and you will recall that Irvin was virtually useless to the Giants for a whole season.

Thomson and Ed Mathews undoubtedly would have been a devastating one-two punch for the Braves just as Williams and George Kell would have been for the Red Sox.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 21 (INS)—The Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox fans soon will discover—if they don't already know it—how much a one-two punch—or the loss thereof—can mean to a ball club.

The Braves have lost Bobby Thomson for an indefinite period with a broken ankle. The Red Sox will be minus Ted Williams indefinitely with a broken collarbone.

We have read any number of optimistic forecasts about both of these slugging outfielders being back in the line-up within six weeks.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 21 (INS).—Marilyn Monroe gets her rewrite on "Pink Tights" and possibly Bob Hope in addition to Frank Sinatra. Bob's been offered the third starring role. Sam Engel, the producer, will keep the musical score as is, but the story will be changed.

Also, there's a very big chance that Marilyn will be borrowed for "Seven Year Itch" when it goes into production in July. Her representative, Charles Feldman, owns the play and is financing the production. Bill Wilder will direct it in New York, making two versions, one in French and one in English.

Edward G. Robinson is back from Rio just in time to be fitted for the ten-gallon hat he'll wear as the third star in "The Bandits" with Glenn Ford and Barbara Stanwyck.

It's been 22 years since Eddie made a western—the last was "Silver Dollar" in 1932.

Speaking of Eddie, a South American fan writes me, "he didn't disappoint us; he looked just like himself, riding around in an open car with a big, black cigar in his mouth."

Elizabeth Taylor's Frank statement that she wants another baby as soon as possible had me asking Liz if she is expecting another addition. She laughingly denied it.

She tells me that she is going to start April 15th on "The Last Time I Saw Paris," (originally "Babylon Revisited").

I asked her if it wasn't difficult, going from one picture directly into another, and she said she had had little to do in "Beau Brummel" and since she and Michael Wilding were in Europe for six months she had plenty of time to rest.

We talked about little Mike, Jr., and she told me he was trying very hard to talk, although he is only 14 months old.

What a fine thing Frankie Laine is doing for all the kids who want to hear him sing—and can't afford it. Starting on Saturday, April 3, and running on consecutive days, he will give six free concerts sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks.

As if his singing isn't enough, Frankie is paying all expenses for the band accompanying him.

Mayor Poulson is expected to appear at several of the concerts to introduce Laine to the thousands of youngsters hearing their idol for the first time.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Peter Lawford and Patricia Kennedy looking for a house at Malibu.

There will be a big turnout tomorrow night for the testimonial dinner the Friars are giving George Raft celebrating his 25 years in show business. Bob Hope, Ronald Reagan, Jack Benny, Jack Warner, Darryl Zanuck and many others will be there.

For a four-minute appearance on a big TV show, Groucho Marx is collecting $15,000. Not bad!

Congratulations to Harry Joe Brown, Jr., for the brilliant article he wrote for the Stanford school paper. His father, Harry Joe, Sr., is busting his buttons with pride.

My wonderful Dr. Johnny Jones was married Friday. No one knew he was even engaged. He and his bride have gone east on a honeymoon.

Ernest Hemingway has left Africa and will meet Gary Cooper in Mexico before "Vera Cruz" is completed. They'll then go on a fishing trip together.

Danny Kaye was ready to offer $750,000 on his own for the rights to "Guys and Dolls" when Sam Goldwyn paid a million.

Frank Sinatra's girl friend at the academy awards will be his daughter Nancy, age 13. She and Frankie, Jr., age 10, are going to be with him.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Choose your lipstick with a thought to hair and skin coloring, and to the color of your costume.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In days when cosmetics were frowned upon, women bit their lips to give them color. Long before those days, before Cleopatra's time even, the lips were tediously painted with red dye. How much easier it is today to enhance natural coloring—with lipstick!

And, how important it is to make the right selection from the variety of shades available, for I have seen many a woman spoil the effect of an attractive costume with a garish or unmatching lipstick.

The tone and brilliance of your lipstick should equal the tone and brilliance of your dress. Its shade should compliment the coloring of your hair and skin.

Lipstick shades can be grouped in three categories: those with underlying bluish cast, those with an orange cast, and the clear reds.

Your Best Shades

As a guide to selecting your most flattering colors, my cosmetics expert suggests the pink, rose and wine shades of bluish hue if you have white or blonde hair and ivory or pink-white skin; the pink or lighter orange shades if you are a medium brunette or blonde and have skin with soft golden undertones; the warm orange shades if you are a red-head with transparent white skin, and the clear reds for the darker brunette whose skin has deep golden undertones.

The fairer your coloring, the lighter your lipstick and rouge range should be. If you verge from medium blonde to brunette, you can play with bright and medium shades. Only if you are the sultry, dark-eyed brunette should you go in for the dark lipsticks; even then, use the deep shades at night, and keep to the brighter tones for daytime.

Key your lipstick to your costume, and you can wear a dress of almost any color. Follow my general suggestions for complementing your hair and skin first, but consider these variations: with greens, a clear red lipstick; with grays, a pink, fuchsia-toned; with yellows, scarlet; with browns, rust-red; with blues and purples, a fuchsia-red; with reds, a lipstick matching exactly the red in your costume.

Basic And Beyond

It would be nice to have a lipstick for every dress in your wardrobe; it is more practical to coordinate one lipstick to your basic wardrobe color, and have a spare or two for "variety dresses."

If you are a blonde, for example, you may find a peach or orange shade most flattering with your fundamental color scheme. When you wear beige, choose a bright red lipstick to relieve the neutral effect of hair and costume hues.

The Aroma Of Decency

Well, it's the only thing anyone is interested in so let's have at it again.

In Edward R. Murrow's second "See It Now" program devoted to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, the star witness was Annie Lee Moss, an earnest, humble, scared Negro woman who had been suspended from her job in the Army because she had been accused by McCarthy of being a member of the Communist party. She denied this simply, earnestly, humbly. At the end of her testimony, Sen. Symington said: "I may be sticking my neck out but I believe you."

At the end of Ed Murrow's program, I guess everyone did. It was impossible not to. A friend of mine named Peter Lind Hayes, who happened to be watching the show with me, made a great remark: "This is the most dangerous woman in America." And, without having any idea that she was so damaging, she was. There was a woman who had been deprived of her job on the flimsiest pretext, who earnestly denied that she had even been a Communist, who had to have the meaning of the word espionage explained to her, who could barely read (though that great phony McCarthy had intimated she was stealing code secrets). I greatly doubt whether Annie Lee Moss knows she has any rights. Yet they were being so clearly violated in front of our very eyes that she won't every heart.

And then there came a point in this broadcast which is one of the greatest experiences television has ever offered. That came when Sen. McClellan began to rumble with indignation over the clear transgressions of this woman's rights. For the first time in a long time an American senator began to act like an American (rather than whatever McCarthy acts like) and get damned angry about individuals who got pushed around.

At the very end, when Sen. Symington leaned forward and said to Annie Lee Moss that, if she could not find a job, he would give her one—right there history turned a small but important corner. Here, for a change, was a senator who wanted to give a woman a job, not to take it away. Here, for a change, was a senator who said: "I trust you," not "I don't trust you." Here, for God's sake, was affirmation on which this country was founded rather than fear, suspicion, and hatred. Here was a man who was trying to help a woman, not to hurt her.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness." Joe McCarthy would very probably like to imply (as he clearly implies about the Fifth Amendment) that that was written by Lenin but it was written by Thomas Jefferson and it is the second paragraph of the Declaration of Independence. When Thomas Jefferson wrote it, the phrase "pursuit of happiness" meant simply the right to hold a job, the right to earn a living.

The American people fought a revolution to defend among other things, the right of Annie Lee Moss to earn a living and Sen. McCarthy now decided she has no such right. It's about time McCarthy was labeled for what he is—a subversive who is trying to undermine the very cornerstone of our country.

When Sen. McClellan started to defend Annie Lee Moss's right and when Senator Symington said "I believe you," the sweet clean aroma of decency filled the room—and the aroma of decency has been missing for a long time. The shocking thing about Sen. McCarthy and about this horrible mess with the Army is that it is indecent. And Americans are not indecent people. (And when I get called before a congressional committee for that remark, the end is in sight.)

One other thing. Roy Cohn was on "Meet the Press" the other day and for the second time, they let him slip through their fingers. There is only one question to ask (Continued on Page 11)

'Blister Brigade' Winds Up Second Leg Of Journey

Party Spends Night At Woodmont Club

ALONG THE C & O CANAL IN WESTERN MARYLAND, March 21 (AP)—The Douglas blister brigade completed about one-fourth of its 184-mile hike to Washington today in sunny windy weather, as nine of the party dropped out.

An advance party of four arrived at the No. 2 stopping place about two hours ahead of the main body of about 30, which was led by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The party completed about 23 miles today. It planned to push on to Ft. Frederick Monday after spending the second night of the eight-day walk at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club near Hancock.

Four Arrive Early

In the advance party were Bernard Frank of the U. S. Forest Service, Washington; Prof. Walter Sanderlin, of Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.; John Schorr, of the Potomac-Edition Power Co., Washington, and Anthony W. Smith, of the CIO's Conservation Committee, Washington.

The four reported they were leaving the hike because they have to return to their jobs Monday. They said five others left the party at Orleans, about 11 miles back.

The band of naturalists, news-men and curious companions set out yesterday morning from near Cumberland, Md., on the expedition dedicated to nature and the preservation of her charms along the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

Oldest Hiker Is 78

The hike resulted from a challenge by Douglas to Merlo Pusey and Robert Estabrook, Washington Post and Times-Herald editorial writers who favor construction of a parkway along the canal route.

Douglas, an outdoors lover and international traveler, urged them to walk the old trail with him and see why he thinks its natural beauties should remain unmarred. They accepted. Others joined in.

Among them was Dr. Olaus J. Murie, president of the Wilderness Society, who came from Moose, Wyo., for the privilege.

The oldest member of the party was Charles P. Thomas, 78, of Washington, D. C., a retired mail carrier.

"Second Breakfast" Served

A second breakfast served by members of the Cumberland Outdoor Club provided a welcome break for the hiking party yesterday morning.

The vanguard of the 29-member canal derby began to arrive at the club house about 9:25 a. m. They were served hot coffee and country ham, prepared by the members under the direction of Robert Taylor.

The party stayed about an hour—long enough to dry wet feet and chat with the 25 members of the club who were on hand to greet the outdoor enthusiasts.

The hikers told their hosts they ran into up to six inches of dust in traversing the tunnel shortly before they reached the Outdoor Club's camp.

Tabler Heads New Industry Seeking Group

Roland Tabler and Raymond Hershberger, both of Ridgeley, were elected permanent chairman and secretary respectively of the newly formed Tri-State Industrial Development Committee at a meeting Thursday at the Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion post home in Ridgeley.

The committee is comprised of representatives of Mineral County communities and was formed for the purpose of attempting to get small industries to move into the area.

It was decided to rotate the meetings every two weeks to various communities in the county in order that all citizens may have a chance to participate. The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 1, at 8 p. m. at Short Gap Fire Hall.

Suggestions received at the initial organizational meeting included obtaining listings of industrial plants seeking new sites and writing for aid and additional ideas from state and national groups interested in helping small communities obtain new industries.

Eighteen persons attended the first meeting and incorporation committee members include C. L. Letterman, Fort Ashby; W. K. Dohrman and A. L. Fisher, Pattersons Creek Volunteer Fire Company; Graham Shaffer and H. E. Smith, Short Gap Fire Company; Charles Fryer of the Ridgeley Town Council; Robert Beal and William Kniernier, Ridgeley Lions Club; William Welch and K. B. Welch, Fort Ashby Fire Company and Lions Club; and William Mickie, Ridgeley.

Condition Is Good

George B. McKenty Jr., 52, of 135 Hanover Street, was described as being in good condition last night at Memorial Hospital where he was taken Saturday afternoon following a heart attack at his home.

Reporter, Bunions Burning, Returns From Canal Safari

(Editor's Note — Bernard E. Sitter, a member of the staff of The Cumberland News, accompanied the Douglas "bunion derby" on the first day of the jaunt from North Branch to Paw Paw, W. Va. This is his account.)

It was a long haul, but it was a grand treat from start to finish. Reporters interviewed each other, photographers snapped each other's pictures, naturalists traded gossip about their latest discoveries of plants and animals in places where the books say they aren't, and there was the man from Life Magazine.

Highway Safety Films Will Be Shown Tonight

Safety movies, aimed at reforming erring drivers who have run afoul of the law, will be shown again tonight at 7:30 at City Hall Auditorium.

Anyone interested in seeing the movies is welcome to attend, said Police Commissioner John P. Long. The first showing last Monday night had to be repeated to take care of an overflow crowd of interested citizens.

Drivers convicted of offenses which could entail revocation or suspension of their licenses will receive certificates indicating they have seen the movies. This, said Long, may help them when their cases are reviewed by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The films have been obtained by a committee including Trial Magistrates Donald Mason, and J. Milton Dick, Department of Motor Vehicles Inspector William J. Byrnes, State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara, and Long.

Jury Action Set In Gaming Case

Charged with violations of the state gaming laws, two local men were released under $1,000 bond each Saturday in Trial Magistrate Court for action of the April Grand Jury.

Bond was set by Magistrate J. Milton Dick after the State's Attorneys Office prayed a jury trial for Frank Melvin Treiber, 948 Bedford Street, and Curtis Masdenheimer, Southern Hotel.

The men were arrested late Friday afternoon when police raided the Queen City Pool Room, 19 North Liberty Street, and seized betting slips, racing forms and other materials they termed book-making evidence.

Led by Lt. James E. Van, the raid was conducted by members of the Police Department dressed in plain clothes.

AFL Meetings Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall. The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Clinics Are Planned

The Health Department will sponsor a child hygiene clinic in Cresaptown tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. and a heart clinic in City Hall from 9 a. m. to noon.

Hardest working man on the first-day trip, Life Photographer Bob Phillips must have covered three times the distance rest of the party walked.

Phillips ran. He climbed. He leaped fences and waded through puddles. He backtracked to get shots of the party walking away from him. Then he dashed ahead to get pictures of the hikers plodding toward him.

Finally, his big moment came. He waded the expedition to a brief halt while he splashed across the two-foot-deep canal and scaled a bare, hundred-foot cliff to get a panoramic picture of the hikers marching past in single file.

A radio commentator lugged a tape recorder to the banks of streams and to the lower limbs of overhanging trees to catch the bubbling rush of water and the chirping of birds.

Merlo Pusey, Washington Post and Times-Herald editorial writer who started the whole thing by writing a piece favoring the C&O Canal Parkway, confessed that an editorial ever had got him "into a jam like this" before.

An ornithologist kept calling out the names of birds that sang overhead or flew suddenly from cover as the party approached. The highlight of his day came with the discovery of two Brewer's blackbirds, which usually stay in the West.

Bernard Frank of the U. S. Forest Service, showed us you can eat the fallen pods of the honey locust, which grows in abundance all along the canal.

Professor Walter Sanderlin of Washington and Jefferson College, who wrote a book on the canal's history, recounted bits of canal lore as the party tramped onward.

Up ahead, Justice Douglas was swinging along in his deceptively lazy-looking cowboy stride, setting a brisk pace that kept the party's speed up to a neat four-mile-an-hour-plus gait, and chatting quietly with anybody who happened to catch up with him.

Not many did. Some of the experienced hikers, who've walked much farther than Saturday's 22 (Continued on Page 11, Col. 6)

REV. O. AFTON LINGER

Rev. O. A. Linger Accepts Call To Milton Baptist

Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor of First Baptist Church here for several years, has announced his resignation from the local charge to accept a call to the pastorate of Milton Baptist Church, Milton, W. Va., effective May 1.

In a letter to his congregation, Rev. Linger says that the call and everything leading up to it was unsolicited, and he believes therefore, that he should accept. He said his resignation here, in no way reflects upon the local church or the members of the congregation. He said he and his family have many friends in Cumberland and leave them reluctantly.

Rev. Linger asked that his resignation be effective April 30, and that April 25 be the last Sunday he will occupy the local pulpit.

In the meantime, however, he will, by previous arrangement conduct a revival meeting at the Peachtree Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., (where Rev. Cary C. Wood is pastor) from March 28 through April 4. During his absence, the pulpit here will be filled by Earl E. Manges.

After returning from Atlanta, Rev. Linger will continue his work at First Baptist until the end of April.

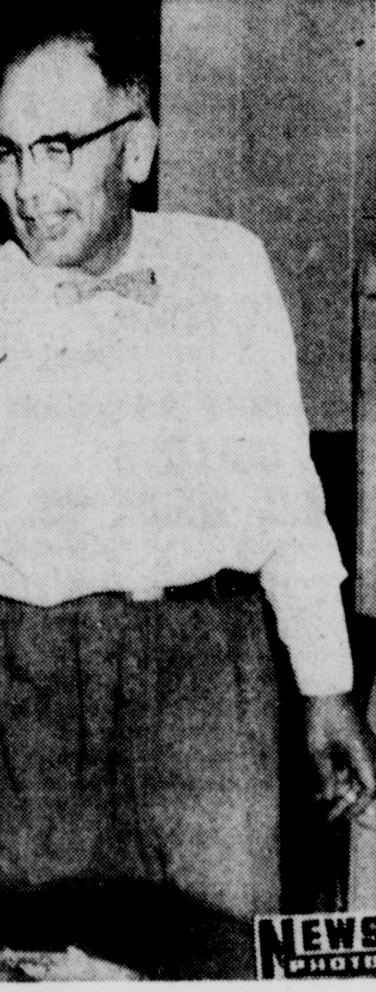

Rev. Linger came to Cumberland as pastor of the local church December 1, 1948. Prior to that he had been pastor of the Wynton Baptist Church, Columbus, Ga. He was also pastor of the First Baptist Church at Elkins, W. Va. for five years and served as a chaplain with the United States Navy during World War II. He holds a reserve commission in the Chaplain Corps.

As a young man, he attended Morgantown High School and at one time worked as an assistant pressman on the old Morgantown New Dominion. He left that job to enter the Army in World War I. After the war he completed his education and started his career as a minister.

He has served as a trustee of Alderson-Broadus College, Philippi, W. Va., was president of the State Baptist Convention, and is a member of the State Mission Board of Maryland, Baptist Union Association with headquarters in Baltimore.

Day's End

The end of a long day on the trail has its compensations. Justice William O. Douglas' companions agreed as the party stopped overnight Saturday at the Cardinal Club at Town Creek. Douglas (upper photo, center) chats informally with Cpl. Samuel H. Hower of the U. S. Park Police (left) and James Bishop of Cumberland, an officer in the club, in front of the huge fireplace at the roomy clubhouse. George Thomas (left, lower photo), who whipped up dinner at the club, beams as he loads 'up plates for Justice Douglas and for Jack Durham, (extreme right) who made most of the arrangements for the expedition, as William H. Marcan, (second from right), assistant Cumberland city engineer and also an officer in the Cardinal Club looks on. The party had breakfast at the club yesterday before pushing on toward Woodmont Rod and Gun Club.

Auker Urges Church Men To Organize

Episcopalians Hear Talk On Attendance

Lester J. Auker, a member of the Vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, told the men of the parish at a breakfast following the quarterly Men's Corporate Holy Communion yesterday morning that they should organize some type of club which would accept the responsibility for certain physical repairs to the church property and which would contact individuals who might be interested in joining the church.

Such a group could be instrumental in assisting the rector, Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, in bringing new members into the congregation. Auker, who is assistant sales manager for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, used various charts to illustrate some of his points. He showed that both attendance percentage and the attendance average have moved upward in the past year. The average attendance has moved up from 186 in 1950 to 237 in 1953. The attendance has advanced from 36.3 in 1950 to 47.8 per cent last year.

On the deficit side of the ledger, Auker pointed to a slight decrease in membership. In 1950 and 1951 it was 513 and now stands at 497.

The speaker emphasized that a number of physical improvements have been made in the church property since he last addressed the men of the parish in November 1951. He called special attention to the parish house basement, where the breakfast was served. That room has been painted, the walls waterproofed, new lights have been installed and the kitchen has been remodeled. The church itself has been equipped with new lights and has been painted.

Douglas Writes Short Study Of Thomas Cresap

Says Pioneer Had National Importance

(Editor's Note — Although perhaps better known for his well-reasoned and well-written judicial opinions, and for his world travels, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has long been an ardent student of people, which means that he is also a student of history. Fascinated by Western Maryland's frontier background, Justice Douglas did some research into the history of the Cresap family and prepared a paper for the information of those who accompanied him on the first leg of his hike from here Saturday. The paper is presented here with his permission.)

By WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS
Associate Justice
U. S. Supreme Court

The year 1740 found Cresap the westernmost occupant of lands in Maryland at a place known as Shawanese Oldtown, where two years later his son, Michael Cresap was born.

Thomas Cresap's stockaded house and trading-post lay on the old Indian trail customarily taken by the Iroquois on their war expeditions against the Cherokees, and though frequently at odds with the Indians, he soon became the intermediary between the Maryland government and the friendly Iroquois of the north and the enemy Cherokees of the south.

The position of his house, printed in many maps of the day, made it a stage in westward journeys from Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania.

He was one of the most prominent men of the Appalachian border, known to Indian and white man alike from Canada to Carolina. When the Ohio Company was chartered in 1749, Cresap's name was found among the organizers, and to him was committed by the Company the practical task of blazing the old Indian trail Gist had followed in his preliminary explorations of the territory.

With his Indian friend, Nemacon, in Cresap marked and improved the sixty miles of trail that ran from Fort Cumberland to the junction of the Redstone and the Monongahela.

He was an active patriot in a private capacity in the Revolution, prominent as a local magistrate, and interested always in schemes of western land development and of western transportation. He died about the year 1790.

From personal knowledge of Cresap, John J. Jacob speaks of his benevolence and hospitality, his personal bravery, coolness and fortitude, but the old frontiersman seems to have possessed an uncertain temper, and the disinterestedness of his motives was never above suspicion in the estimation of his contemporaries.

Even with this admitted, however, there is no doubt of the value of Cresap's services to his province and to the whole western border at a time when soft hands, white collars, and the ethical niceties were neither fashionable nor useful in that country.

Today's Sermonette

Jesus was led by the spirit into the wilderness, being there 40 days. Luke 4:1-2.

And He departed into a solitary place and there prayed. Mark 1:35.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at St. Mark's Reformed Church by the pastor, Rev. Carl H. Clapp. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

In Quiet Places

By REV. CARL H. CLAPP

How hard it is in these days to claim time for quietness alone. We live in an age of speed accelerators and space eliminators. Nearly everyone has a crowded date book and is constantly faced with the necessity of rushing from one place to another.

We become so concerned about increasing our efficiency, which too often means multiplying the number of things we do, that we often overlook the elements supremely essential both to efficiency and to satisfactory living.

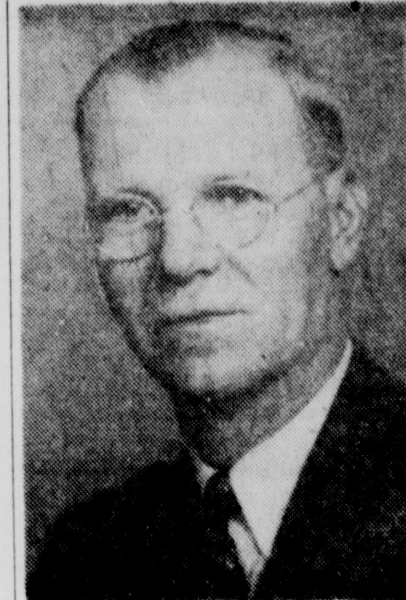

No one was ever busier than Jesus in the great days of His ministry in Galilee. But the busier He was the more He realized the absolute necessity for quiet times apart.

The records tell us that after He departed into the desert and there for 40 days — nearly six weeks, He meditated upon His great problem, seeking guidance and strength through fellowship with God in prayer. There the great God-given purpose of His life was thought through anew. There the principles upon which He must proceed were reaffirmed.

Rev. Clapp

What is the use of these times for spiritual renewal? Can our lives in these significant days attain their possible richness without them. If Jesus so definitely felt the need of reliance upon Divine invisible resources and could come out from such moments, apart, refreshed and empowered for greater accomplishments, can we afford to neglect these opportunities in our day.

But some practical one replies "What is the use of prayer?" The answer is obvious. It depends upon your conception of and your experience in prayer. If prayer means merely the repetition of fixed formulas and the stringing together of pious phrases it may be anemic indeed. If prayer means just going by force of habit to your room or to your church and adopting a certain posture for a few minutes of the day or of the week it may easily lack vitality. But for the follower of Jesus these are exactly the conceptions which the master in His teaching and practice sought constantly to supplant and rule forever out of life.

SIMEON W. GREEN

Simeon W. Green Enters Race For Commissioner

Frostburg Automobile Dealer Is Candidate

Simeon W. Green, 326 East Main Street, Frostburg, has announced his candidacy for election to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, subject to the Republican Primary.

A well-known Frostburg automobile dealer and sportsman, Green served two terms as a County Commissioner from 1938 to 1946. Prior to that he had served as a member of the Frostburg City Council and also as a member of the old Board of Road Supervisors.

A lifelong Republican, Green has always maintained an active interest in county and state politics. He is also active in civic affairs, and is a veteran of World War I, with combat experience in France.

For a number of years he has operated the Frostburg agency for Chevrolet automobiles and more recently also acquired the agency for Oldsmobile cars.

In announcing his candidacy, Green said he had been approached by large numbers of people, including some Democrats, urging him to seek office.

He declared, "I had intended to stay out of active politics, but the numerous and repeated requests of so many friends and acquaintances has caused me to become a candidate. I will file the necessary papers in a few days and at that time may have a more detailed statement to make. At this time, I can be quoted as saying that 'I am out to win and expect to campaign very hard.'"

Green is married and has three grown children, two sons and a daughter. In addition to his home and business, he has always been interested in outdoor sports and activities and is considered one of the area's most ardent outdoorsmen.

He is the sixth Republican to file for the three-man board. Others who are active candidates are Charles N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, this city, and Virgil Alexander, present mayor of Lonaconing, along with the three incumbents who announced as a slate, William Lemmert, Frostburg, James Holmes, Lonaconing, and James Orr, Cumberland.

Health Workers Probe Case Of Undulant Fever

Disease Brought To U. S. By Goats

Allegany County health authorities are investigating the first case of undulant fever reported in this city in more than five years.

Officials said efforts are being made to track down the source of the attack on a 26-year-old local man.

The disease, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, turns up occasionally in humans and can affect all milk-bearing animals.

The common source, he explained, is raw milk from cows which are affected by Bang's disease, or infectious abortion. Butchers and slaughterhouse workers, he added, sometimes contract the disease when the organism enters their bodies through a break in the skin.

Pasteurization, which kills all pathogenic bacteria, and careful testing of dairy herds for Bang's disease, has cut the attacks of the disease to a minimum in this area, officials said.

Annual testing of dairy herds is required for dealers who sell unpasteurized milk. There are only two raw milk dealers in the county, and no more permits are being issued.

Originally known as Malta Fever, the disease was introduced into the United States by ranchers who imported goats from the Island of Malta.

In recent years, it has been called undulant fever, because the attacks come in waves.

Officials said the disease is usually called Bang's Disease when it affects animals, but that the same germ causes the disease in humans.

Allegany County Third In Sales Of Savings Bonds

Allegany County reached its highest peak in the sale of savings bonds last month when it vaulted to third place in the state with 17.1 per cent of its $3,175,700 quota for the year met.

Sales of E and H bonds amounted to $280,125 in February, Lynn C. Lashley, county savings bond chairman, announced, bringing the county's total for the first two months of the year to $442,656.

February was the second highest month for sales of these bonds since the program first began and the increase was 15.1 per cent above February of last year throughout the state. Sales last month in the state amounted to $5,149,000, compared to $4,475,000 in 1953, an increase of $675,000.

However, despite the evidence of increased interest to investors in the E and H series of bonds which yield a return of 3 per cent compounded semi-annually if held to maturity, the state's sales are more than a million dollars under the monthly quota set for the state this year.

'Blister Brigade' Winds Up Second Leg Of Journey

Party Spends Night At Woodmont Club

ALONG THE C & O CANAL IN WESTERN MARYLAND, March 21 (P)—The Douglas blister brigade completed about one-fourth of its 184-mile hike to Washington today in sunny windy weather, as nine of the party dropped out.

An advance party of four arrived at the No. 2 stopping place about two hours ahead of the main body of about 30, which was led by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The party completed about 23 miles today. It planned to push on to Ft. Frederick Monday after spending the second night of the eight-day walk at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club near Hancock.

Four Arrive Early

In the advance party were Bernard Frank of the U. S. Forest Service, Washington; Prof. Walter Sanderlin, of Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.; John Schorr, of the Potomac-Edison Power Co., Washington, and Anthony W. Smith, of the CIO's Conservation Committee, Washington.

The four reported they were leaving the hike because they have to return to their jobs Monday. They said five others left the party at Orleans, about 11 miles back.

The band of naturalists, newsmen and curious companions set out yesterday morning from near Cumberland, Md., on the expedition dedicated to nature and the preservation of her charms along the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

Oldest Hiker Is 78

The hike resulted from a challenge by Douglas to Merlo Pusey and Robert Estabrook, Washington Post and Times-Herald editorial writers who favor construction of a parkway along the canal route.

Douglas, an outdoors lover and international traveler, urged them to walk the old trail with him and see why he thinks its natural beauties should remain unmarred. They accepted. Others joined in.

Among them was Dr. Olaus J. Murie, president of the Wilderness Society, who came from Moose, Wyo., for the privilege.

The oldest member of the party was Charles P. Thomas, 78, of Washington, D. C., a retired mail carrier.

"Second Breakfast" Served

A second breakfast served by members of the Cumberland Outdoor Club provided a welcome break for the hiking party yesterday morning.

The vanguard of the 29-member canal derby began to arrive at the club house about 9:25 a. m. They were served hot coffee and country ham, prepared by the members under the direction of Robert Taylor.

The party stayed about an hour—long enough to dry wet feet and chat with the 25 members of the club who were on hand to greet the outdoor enthusiasts.

The hikers told their hosts they ran into up to six inches of dust in traversing the tunnel shortly before they reached the Outdoor Club's camp.

Tabler Heads New Industry Seeking Group

Roland Tabler and Raymond Hersberger, both of Ridgeley, were elected permanent chairman and secretary respectively of the newly formed Tri-State Industrial Development Committee at a meeting Thursday at the Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion post home in Ridgeley.

The committee is comprised of representatives of Mineral County communities and was formed for the purpose of attempting to get small industries to move into the area.

It was decided to rotate the meetings every two weeks to various communities in the county in order that all citizens may have a chance to participate. The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 1, at 8 p. m. at Short Gap Fire Hall.

Suggestions received at the initial organizational meeting included obtaining listings of industrial plants seeking new sites and writing for aid and additional ideas from state and national groups interested in helping small communities obtain new industries.

Eighteen persons attended the first meeting and incorporation committee members include C. L. Letterman, Fort Ashby; W. K. Dohrman and A. L. Fisher, Pattersons Creek Volunteer Fire Company; Graham Shaffer and H. E. Smith, Short Gap Fire Company; Charles Fryer of the Ridgeley Town Council; Robert Beal and William Knieriem, Ridgeley Lions Club; William Welch and K. B. Welch, Fort Ashby Fire Company and Lions Club; and William Mickie, Ridgeley.

Condition Is Good

George B. McKenty Jr., 52, of 135 Hanover Street, was described as being in good condition last night at Memorial Hospital where he was taken Saturday afternoon following a heart attack at his home.

Reporter, Bunions Burning, Returns From Canal Safari

(Editor's Note — Bernard E. Sitter, a member of the staff of The Cumberland News, accompanied the Douglas "bunion derby" on the first day of the jaunt from North Branch to Paw Paw, W. Va. This is his account.)

It was a long haul, but it was a grand start from start to finish. Reporters interviewed each other, photographers snapped each other's pictures, naturalists traded gossip about their latest discoveries of plants and animals in places where the books say they aren't, and there was the man from Life Magazine.

Highway Safety Films Will Be Shown Tonight

Safety movies, aimed at reforming erring drivers who have run afoul of the law, will be shown again tonight at 7:30 at City Hall Auditorium.

Anyone interested in seeing the movies is welcome to attend, said Police Commissioner John P. Long. The first showing last Monday night had to be repeated to take care of an overflow crowd of interested citizens.

Drivers convicted of offenses which could entail revocation or suspension of their licenses will receive certificates indicating they have seen the movies. This, said Long, may help them when their cases are reviewed by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The films have been obtained by a committee including Trial Magistrates Donald Mason, and J. Milton Dick, Department of Motor Vehicles Inspector William J. Byrnes, State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara, and Long.

Jury Action Set In Gaming Case

Charged with violations of the state gaming laws, two local men were released under $1,000 bond each Saturday in Trial Magistrate's Court for action of the April Grand Jury.

Bond was set by Magistrate J. Milton Dick after the State's Attorneys Office prayed a jury trial for Frank Melvin Treiber, 948 Bedford Street, and Curtis Masinheimer, Southern Hotel.

The men were arrested late Friday afternoon when police raided the Queen City Pool Room, 19 North Liberty Street, and seized betting slips, racing forms and other materials they termed book-making evidence.

Led by Lt. James E. Van, the raid was conducted by members of the Police Department dressed in plain clothes.

AFL Meetings Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall. The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Clinics Are Planned

The Health Department will sponsor a child hygiene clinic in Cresaptown tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. and a heart clinic in City Hall from 9 a. m. to noon.

How hard it is in these days to claim time for quietness alone. We live in an age of speed accelerators and space eliminators. Nearly everyone has a crowded date book and is constantly faced with the necessity of rushing from one place to another. We become so concerned about increasing our efficiency, which too often means multiplying the number of things we do, that often we overlook the elements supremely essential both to efficiency and to satisfactory living.

No one was ever busier than Jesus in the great days of His ministry in Galilee. But the busier He was the more gigantic His task appeared as it confronted Him, the more He realized and claimed the absolute necessity for quiet times apart. The records tell us that after He departed into the desert and there for 40 days—nearly six weeks, He meditated upon His great problem, seeking guidance and strength through fellowship with God in prayer. There the great God-given purpose of His life was thought through anew. There the principles upon which He must proceed were reaffirmed.

SIMEON W. GREEN

Simeon W. Green Enters Race For Commissioner

Frostburg Automobile Dealer Is Candidate

Simeon W. Green, 326 East Main Street, Frostburg, has announced his candidacy for election to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, subject to the Republican Primary.

A well-known Frostburg automobile dealer and sportsman, Green served two terms as a County Commissioner from 1938 to 1946. Prior to that he had served as a member of the Frostburg City Council and also as a member of the old Board of Road Supervisors.

A lifelong Republican, Green has always maintained an active interest in county and state politics. He is also active in civic affairs, and is a veteran of World War I, with combat experience in France.

For a number of years he has operated the Frostburg agency for Chevrolet automobiles and more recently also acquired the agency for Oldsmobile cars.

In announcing his candidacy, Green said he had been approached by large numbers of people, including some Democrats, urging him to seek office.

He declared, "I had intended to stay out of active politics, but the numerous and repeated requests of so many friends and acquaintances has caused me to become a candidate. I will file the necessary papers in a few days and at that time may have a more detailed statement to make. At this time, I can be quoted as saying that 'I am out to win and expect to campaign very hard.'"

Green is married and has three grown children, two sons and a daughter. In addition to his home and business, he has always been interested in outdoor sports and activities and is considered one of the area's most ardent outdoorsmen.

He is the sixth Republican to file for the three-man board. Others who are active candidates are Charles N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, this city, and Virgil Alexander, present mayor of Lonaconing, along with the three incumbents who announced as a slate, William Lemmert, Frostburg, James Holmes, Lonaconing, and James Orr, Cumberland.

Health Workers Probe Case Of Undulant Fever

Disease Brought To U. S. By Goats

Allegany County health authorities are investigating the first case of undulant fever reported in this city in more than five years.

Officials said efforts are being made to track down the source of the attack on a 26-year-old local man.

The disease, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, turns up occasionally in humans and can affect all milk-bearing animals.

The common source, he explained, is raw milk from cows which are affected by Bang's disease, or infectious abortion. Butchers and slaughterhouse workers, he added, sometimes contract the disease when the organism enters their bodies through a break in the skin. Pasteurization, which kills all pathogenic bacteria, and careful testing of dairy herds for Bang's disease, has cut the attacks of the disease to a minimum in this area, officials said.

Annual testing of dairy herds is required for dealers who sell unpasteurized milk. There are only two raw milk dealers in the county, and no more permits are being issued. Originally known as Malta Fever, the disease was introduced into the United States by ranchers who imported goats from the Island of Malta.

In recent years, it has been called undulant fever, because the attacks come in waves.

Officials said the disease is usually called Bang's Disease when it affects animals, but that the same germ causes the disease in humans.

Allegany County Third In Sales Of Savings Bonds

Allegany County reached its highest peak in the sale of savings bonds last month when it vaulted to third place in the state with 17.1 per cent of its $3,175,700 quota for the year met.

Sales of E and H bonds amounted to $280,125 in February, Lynn C. Lashley, county savings bond chairman, announced, bringing the county's total for the first two months of the year to $542,656.

February was the second highest month for sales of these bonds since the program first began and the increase was 15.1 per cent above February of last year throughout the state. Sales last month in the state amounted to $5,149,000, compared to $4,475,000 in 1953, an increase of $675,000.

However, despite the evidence of increased interest to investors in the E and H series of bonds which yielded a return of 3 per cent compounded semi-annually if held to maturity, the state's sales are more than a million dollars under the monthly quota set for the state this year.

The state's quota for the year is $74,200,000 and to date $10,656,945 worth have been sold or 14.35 per cent.

Washington County ranks first in sales for the year with 21.3 per cent of its $2,940,000 quota. Harford County is second with 17.9 per cent, Allegany third, Dorchester fourth with 15.9 per cent and Kent County fifth with 15.5 per cent.

The Weather

The first day of Spring was far from spring-like, with snow flurries and heavy winds throughout most of the day yesterday following a brief snowfall which covered the streets early in the morning. However the brisk winds and cool temperatures soon obliterated the snow. The mercury reached a high of 31 degrees for the 24-hour period while the low was recorded at 22 at Constitution Park. At 7:30 last night the thermometer again read 31 and humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent. Yesterday's heavy rain Friday and early Saturday brought the month's precipitation to 4.46 inches since the first of March. This is 1.46 inches above the normal three inches for the month of March, weather bureau officials stated. Forecast for today is fair and not quite so windy.
